PLANS RUSHED BY LINDBERGH FOR OCEAN HOP

Flight Over Pacific Set to Start After June 22, Son's Birthday

New York —(AP)—Sometime after June 22, the first birthday of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., his parents will leave at Englewood, N. J., with his grandparents, Senator and Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, and fly over the Pacific ocean for a vacation.

Preparations for the flight are being rushed. At the North Beach airport, Queens, mechanics are fitting a Lockheed plane with the necessary instruments for use in the journey. Mrs. Lindbergh is getting more experienced in the use of the plane.

The Lindberghs flew from Haskins Heights, N. J., yesterday to the Island Country Aviation club, where the colonel said that details for his flight would be completed about a month.

Mrs. Lindbergh went up for a solo flight soon after lunch—she obtained her pilot's license last week—about 10 miles. They then flew to North Beach, where Col. Lindbergh left in the Lockheed for a point-to-point flight.

Mrs. Lindbergh flew back to Haskins Heights, N. J., yesterday in his automobile. She was still in the car when she was taken to the hospital for a cesarean section. The government's claim, based on an investigation that lasted two years, was that Capone owed $215,884 on a gross income of $1,038,554 for the years 1924 to 1929 inclusive.

The indictment was returned before Federal Judge John P. Barnes at 125 p. m. (C. D. S.) and bond was set at $50,000. It was reported that Capone might surrender either today or tomorrow to give bond.

Capone is already under sentence on one federal count—six months for contempt of court. He was sentenced last February by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, because of his "misrepresentation" to the court in attempting to evade appearance before a federal grand jury in 1929. The grand jury is at liberty under bond pending an appeal.

Witnesses testified that Capone was attending horse races and taking in boat and airplane rides at the time he was supposed to have been in bed. Capone made a belated appearance before the grand jury but the court held that this fact did not alter the seriousness of his attempt to "meddle with justice."

Perry In Vilas-co Jail For Murder Trial

ALFONSE CAPONE
Indicted On Tax Charge

Chicago —(AP)—Alphonse Capone, the scoundrel leader of Chicago's underworld, was indicted by a federal grand jury today for violating the income tax laws.

The government's claim, based on an investigation that lasted two years, was that Capone owed $215,884 on a gross income of $1,038,554 for the years 1924 to 1929 inclusive. The indictment was returned before Federal Judge John P. Barnes at 125 p. m. (C. D. S.) and bond was set at $50,000.

Capone made a belated appearance before the grand jury but the court held that this fact did not alter the seriousness of his attempt to "meddle with justice."

Other charges against the gang chief included carrying a concealed weapon, for which he spent almost a year in a Philadelphia prison, and vagrancy. The latter charge, based on one of the warrants sworn out against Chicago's "public enemies," was dismissed at the request of the state recently for lack of specific information against the gangster.

Washington —(AP)—The National Broadcasting company and three other subsidiaries of the Radio Corporation of America today asked the District of Columbia Supreme court for injunctions to prevent revocation of their 1400 licenses by the Federal Radio commission.

HINTS PLEA OF NOT GUILTY IN HACKETT DEATH

Large Amounts of Money Carried by Victim Not Found With Body

Eagle River —(AP)—George (Jiggs) Perry today was back in Lac du Flambeau region where he honeymooned last summer with Mrs. Cora Belle Hackett, his "want ad" bride. Brought from San Francisco by Sheriff Thomas McGregor, Sr., where he was arrested under the name of Frank J. Moran, Milwaukee's "marrying" brakeman, was held in a doubly guarded cell in the Vilas-co jail to await arraignment on charges of slaying Mrs. Hackett, one of several women he married bigamously.

"I guess I'm home," he said as he stepped from an automobile bringing him here from Chicago last night. A large crowd surrounded the jail to watch the arrival of the prisoner, now nationally notorious. Perry recognized several persons in the group as friends he made while on his honeymoon tour. He nodded and spoke to them affably.

A photographer asked him to pose. "Sure," said Perry. He posed twice. "Now do you want one with my hat on?" No longer did he contend he was "Frank J. Moran," the San Francisco man who recently married a beautiful Spanish woman, George Perry, that's all he was in Eagle River. And as far as the six bigamous marriages authorities insist he entered into in several states he said, "Sure, I'll take the rap for them. But not for murder. I didn't kill Mrs. Hackett."

New evidence greeted the arrival of the prisoner. Authorities said they discovered that during the several weeks Perry spent in a cottage at Houston Park's resort near here, Mrs. Hackett paid the bills and carried large amounts of money on her. She wore a money belt, they said.

When Perry checked out of the resort after borrowing the rifle from which authorities said was used to shoot Mrs. Hackett, he paid the final bill, Parker said. The money belt

CHICAGO DEMOCRATS BACK LEWIS FOR 1932

Chicago —(AP)—The Chicago Daily Tribune said today that the city Democratic organization at a secret meeting last night endorsed United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis for nomination for the presidency next year.

"There shouldn't be any doubt about where we stand on the presidential race next year," Mayor Anton J. Cermak was quoted as telling the various ward committeemen. "It might as well be for as even at this early date to make our position known so that it cannot be questioned."

The motion for the endorsement was carried unanimously, the Tribune said.

LA FOLLETTE VETOES SMITH INSURANCE BILL

Madison —(AP)—Governor La Follette yesterday vetoed the Smith bill regarding insurance agents contending its provisions were too severe. The bill suspends from six months to three years the licenses of agents found withholding insurance applications or converting premium payments to their own use. Such action, the governor said, constituted embezzlement and sufficient penalties are had under present laws.

Washington —(AP)—The National Broadcasting company and three other subsidiaries of the Radio Corporation of America today asked the District of Columbia Supreme court for injunctions to prevent revocation of their 1400 licenses by the Federal Radio commission.

DO-X At End Of Long Hop Over Ocean

Natal, Brazil —(AP)—The seaplane DO-X arrived here at 2:10 p. m. today (12:10 p. m. E. S. T.) completing her trans-Atlantic voyage from Altenrhein, Switzerland.

Fernando Noronha Island, Brazil —(AP)—The giant flying boat DO-X landed idly in the harbor today after a stirring flight over the south Atlantic from the Cape Verde islands. She left Porto Praia at 10:52 a. m. (E. S. T.) and arrived here at 11:18 p. m. (E. S. T.). Last night, negotiating the 1,429 miles in 12 hours and 26 minutes.

Her passengers and crew were enthusiastic over the flight, saying the twelve 500-horsepower motors functioned perfectly as the great flying boat hummed along under the southern cross on the resumption of her long delayed trip from Europe to the New World.

Gathering speed in a 30-second takeoff, the seaplane lifted herself out of the water at Porto Praia with a heavy load of fuel and set her course in a southwesterly direction. The extremely low altitude at which she was flying led to reports that she had fallen into the ocean but these were disproved.

As she settled down for the long pull, her speed was increased and her altitude raised. Several hours after the start she radioed the Dorner works in Friedrichshafen and the wireless station at Porto Praia that all was well aboard and that she was following the ship lanes.

Nearing her destination, she wirelessed that she had increased her speed to 150 miles an hour and that she might land off the island and complete her trip at dawn. A few hours later she swooped to a graceful landing in the bay and the passengers clambered into motor boats—tired but jubilant.

NINE ARRESTED IN FRAUD CONSPIRACY

11 Sought in Plot to Wreck Bus in Order to Make Damage Suits Possible

Chicago —(AP)—Nine persons were under arrest today on charges of conspiracy to defraud after prosecutors said they had discovered a plot whereby 10 persons booked rides on a cross-country bus and had it go into a ditch in order to collect damages. Among the nine was the driver, William May. Eleven more were being sought.

Prosecutors said May told them that the "purple gang" in Detroit was behind the scheme as a means of taking over several bus lines by forcing them into bankruptcy.

All 20 states' attorneys said, were on a Colonial stage, a subsidiary of the Interstate Transit, Inc., of Ohio, April 28 when it ran into a ditch ten miles east of Pontiac, Ill.

"I was to have caused the accident on the way to St. Louis, but I didn't have the nerve," May was quoted as saying. "On the way back, I was threatened every time I stopped. Finally I zigzagged the bus back and forth until it fell into the ditch."

Dennis Zeno, another of those arrested, said he was forced to take part in the scheme by two members of the "Purple Gang," known as "Scotty" and "Brown."

The prosecutors asserted that the gang intended to cause many other accidents.

BUILD BEAUTY IN RURAL LIFE, SHOLTS PLEADS

University Regent Scores Materialistic Attitude of America

With poetic illustration at his fingertips, A. H. Sholts, Oregon farmer and regent of the University of Wisconsin, made a stirring appeal for cultural beauty in rural life at the Thursday afternoon session of Outagamie school boards in the auditorium of Wilson junior high school.

He decried civilization as a mere mental picture of material things and explained that the home life and school surroundings of the young child is the most important foundation of his life. Habits and impressions are made in the cradle and grade school and not in high school or college, which Mr. Sholts expressed as "superstructures of education" that come too late for permanent impression.

Mr. Sholts criticized American life in general from the viewpoint of its materialism. He said that Americans are preoccupied with the pursuit of the utilitarian much of the beauty of the world is lost.

"I would like to see American country-life less material and more artistic," he said. "It needs more beauty and soul, more love of music and poetry, more inspiration in landscape. If grass means only pasture to the farmer, if flowers are but the only meaning of a quarter section of land and if trees mean only loads of cordwood, then the vital element in American rural life is wanting."

Scores Signboards He protested against the millions of signboards lining the country highways and he berated the careless traveler and tourist who has become a menace to the farmer by their littering of country roadsides with debris. Mr. Sholts praised the work of Europeans in the reclamation of their forests. He said that timber is everywhere, not as dense as former Michigan and Wisconsin lands, but there are trees in every corner in all stages of "young, old and middle-aged trees, standing like soldiers."

"Let us have in our country life," he said, "sentiment, beauty and soul. Let every farmer put forth an effort so that each time he plants his corn he will plant a tree; that as far as his purse can buy, he will hang beautiful pictures on his walls; that he thinks and strives for things of utility he will also strive for beauty."

"A piano should be in every country schoolhouse, there should be more of community song and every

2 POSSIBLE RELIEFS IN CHICAGO CRISIS

Chicago —(AP)—Two rays of hope pierced Chicago's financial gloom today.

One was a tentative offer of two New York financial houses to loan the city $10,000,000 to tide the municipal treasury over until Sept. 1.

The second was the passage of a house of representatives bill by the state senate in Springfield to empower cities and counties to purchase their own tax anticipatory warrants from idle funds. It was estimated $58,000,000 would thus be made available for payroll and expenses.

Representatives of Lehman Brothers and Pressrich and Co., of New York conferred with Mayor Anton J. Cermak and Comptroller Szymczak yesterday after local bankers declined to come to the city's rescue until after a housecleaning of the ramified taxation system is made. The New Yorkers delayed consummation of the deal, however, pending consultation with spokesmen for Chicago banks.

PROMINENT KENOSHA COUPLE IS MARRIED

Kenosha —(AP)—Undaunted by interference of a former suitor, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Allen, socially prominent Kenosha couple, today proceeded with plans for a church ceremony following an elopement to Waikanae, Ill.

The elopement of the former Miss Consuelo Stenn with Allen, the son of a wealthy banker, came on the heels of an announcement of her engagement May 20 to Edward Uthlein, son of Henry Bencke, Highland Park, Ill., and nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Albert O. Trostel, Milwaukee.

Wilkins' Submarine Off For England On Polar Trip

Starts Voyage Nautilus on First Leg of Exploration Voyage to North Pole

Boston —(AP)—Sir Hubert Wilkins' submarine, Nautilus, bound for England on the first leg of a trip to the North pole, today reported her position at Cape Cod light at 50 miles east of Cape Cod light at 8 o'clock a. m. The craft was making seven knots in a smooth sea with good weather overhead. The coast guard cutter Ponchartrain was accompanying the Nautilus as far as the Grand Banks.

Provincetown, Mass. —(AP)—The submarine Nautilus was plowing through the north Atlantic today on her way to test the feasibility of reaching the North pole under Arctic ice.

Carrying Sir Hubert Wilkins, explorer in charge of the expedition, and a crew of 15, the Nautilus left here at 10 o'clock p. m. eastern standard time yesterday, bound for London, England, her first port of call. She was conveyed by the United States coast guard cutter Ponchartrain which will keep her company as far as the Newfoundland banks.

In speed tests yesterday the submarine proved itself efficient at 11 knots, speed which will take her to London in 20 days.

From England Sir Hubert plans to go to Spitzbergen, Norway, where the voyage through and under the polar ice will start. The route will take the Nautilus across the pole to Alaska.

Before starting, Sir Hubert said he hoped to be at the pole in time to keep a rendezvous with the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin, which also plans a polar trip this summer. The Nautilus is equipped with radio and apparatus for making soundings and observations in the polar region.

She carries food supplies for 15 months and sufficient fuel and oil for a cruise of 4,000 miles. At Bergen, on the mainland of Norway, a stop will be made to take aboard additional supplies and equipment needed in the Arctic.

The Nautilus which is 175 feet long, was formerly the United States navy submarine O-12. She was christened Nautilus in honor of the underwater craft in the adventure story "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea" by Jules Verne. Before the craft was overhauled, refitted and subjected to thorough diving and navigation tests.

Captain Simon Danneberg is in command. Other officers include Lieutenant Commander Isaac Schlossback and Chief Engineer Ralph D. Shaw.

FINAL DECREE GRANTED MRS. ANNA STILLMAN

New York —(AP)—The Brooklyn Eagle says today that Mrs. Anna U. Stillman yesterday obtained a divorce from James A. Stillman and then was married to Fowler McCormick of Chicago, grandson of John D. Rockefeller.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y. —(AP)—A final decree of divorce in the marital difficulties of Mrs. Anna Stillman and James A. Stillman has been granted Mrs. Stillman by Supreme Court Justice Joseph Morschauser. Although the decree was entered yesterday it was not discovered until today.

The action follows an interlocutory decree granted last February. Mrs. Stillman is permitted to resume her maiden name Anne Uthman. She is known as "Titi." No alimony is involved.

The decree entered with the county clerk yesterday was filed with other documents in the extended Stillman proceedings and was not discovered until today.

SENATE SENDS HAMPEL BILL TO LA FOLLETTE

Neenah-Menasha Municipal Court Measure Also has Legislature's O. K.

Madison —(AP)—Daylight saving time will be outlawed in Wisconsin if the governor approves a bill concurred in by the senate today.

The senate voted 20 to 7 for the bill introduced by Assemblyman George Hampel, Milwaukee, which provides that "no person operating a place of business shall employ, display or maintain or use other than the standard time." It carries a penalty of $25 to $500 and 10 to 20 days.

Sen. William Edwards, Sussex, urged passage of the measure on the ground that farmers cannot milk their cows an hour earlier as they would be forced to do under daylight saving time. Sen. H. B. Daggett, Milwaukee, condemned the bill and pointed out that "if a person doesn't wind his clock he goes to jail."

The senate concurred in the Fox bill changing the deer season to Nov. 15 to 25 in even numbered years and closing the season in various counties. The season at present is Dec. 1 to 10. The upper house refused the assemblyman's plan for shooting dogs and fawns as well as bucks. Closed season will prevail in the following counties:

Adams, Brown, Buffalo, Calumet, Columbia, Crawford, Dane, Dodge, Door, Dunn, Eau Claire, Fond du Lac, Grant, Green Lake, Iowa.

MUNICIPAL COURT BILL FOR NEENAH, MENASHA APPROVED

An assembly bill by Jerome Fox, Chilton, proposing creation of a municipal court for Neenah and Menasha, was passed Friday by the senate and sent to the governor. Under the terms of the measure the court would alternate between the two cities every two weeks until a permanent place is selected by agreement. The councilors of the cities would select a judge to serve until the April election. At present cases coming under the jurisdiction of a municipal court are taken to Oshkosh.

Jackson, Jefferson, Juneau, Kenosha, Kewaunee, LaCrosse, Lafayette, Manitowish Marquette, Milwaukee, Monroe, Outagamie, Ozaukee, Pepin, Pierce, Portage, Racine, Richland, Rock, Sauk, Shawano, Sheboygan, St. Croix, Trempealeau, Vernon, Walworth, Waushara, Waukesha, Waupaca, Waubesa, Winnebago, and Wood.

The senate passed Sen. J. H. Carroll's bill to appropriate $200,000 annually to the executive council for advertising the scenic recreational, industrial and agricultural advantages of Wisconsin. The Rubin bill, an emergency measure providing that convict goods must be labeled after 1934, was concurred in by a 17 to 10 vote.

PASS NEGLIGENCE BILL

An important change in the law governing personal injury and property damage cases was effected when the senate concurred in a substitute amendment to the Severston negligence bill. Under the terms of the measure, contributory negligence shall not bar recovery in an action to recover damages for negligence resulting in death or in injury to person or property. Damages shall be fixed in proportion to the amount of negligence. Under the present law, recovery is impossible if contributory negligence is shown.

The senate also concurred in the Langbein bill to prohibit "ambulance chasing." Under the terms of the measure, no one may solicit personal injury damages from a person who is working for a corporation, unless he is licensed to carry on his work.

An assembly bill ordering the creation of a committee on business economics within the executive council was concurred in. It asks the proposed committee to keep in touch with business conditions, investigate and study the causes of business depression and recommend ways and means of averting or remedying depressions and to improve and enlarge markets for Wisconsin goods.

Fix Racoon Season

The season on racoon was fixed as Nov. 1 to Dec. 31 by the senate today. The bill, which now goes to the assembly, permits a closed season in Outagamie and Waushara counties until July 1, 1932. It also closes season on wood cock except in Waushara where it shall be Oct. 1 to Nov. 30. Another conservation measure—permitting the non-resident fishing licenses to be valid from May 1 to March 1 if the licensee is a taxpayer—was concurred in.

The following assembly bills were approved by the senate and sent to the governor:

- By Moulton Goff—Forbidding the use of traps in Green Bay and Lake Michigan except under a permit by the conservation commission extending during a period of investigation by the commission and the U. S. bureau of fisheries.
- By Oscar Schmenges—Ordering nomination papers for town officers to show the incumbent who is to be succeeded by the proposed nominee.

PUT BLUE LAW ISSUE BEFORE STATE VOTERS

Senate Engrasses Edwards Bill on Regulation of Soft Drink Places

Madison—(AP)—The repeal of Wisconsin's "blue laws" last night was put up to the electorate as the senate concurred in an assembly resolution calling for a referendum on the question at the 1932 election. Two legislatures previously have blocked laws calling for repeal.

The "blue laws" date back 75 years and while seldom enforced, prohibit all sports and amusements and work, "except of necessity," on Sunday.

Local communities were given the right to regulate and license places selling non-intoxicating beverages under the Edwards bill which was engrossed.

The Polakowski bill for an eight hour day for guards in state penal institutions, was killed.

The Jensen bill extending benefits of the soldiers' educational and cash bonus acts was sent to the governor after concurrence by the senate and the Fox bill, changing the deer season dates from Dec. 1 to 15 in even numbered years and cutting the season from 10 to 5 days, was engrossed. A bill to permit towns to appoint dance hall and roadhouse supervisors to have jurisdiction above county supervisors was killed.

Act on Carov Bill

The Carov bill, including clauses aiming to prevent direct or indirect transfer of public utility permits to out-of-state corporations, was adopted by the assembly yesterday after approval of an amendment striking out the prohibition of transfer through shifting stock control.

The Carroll bill authorizing the governor to accept federal funds on behalf of the state for education, health, poor relief, or promotion of agriculture among the Indians, was ordered to a third reading.

The assembly passed the Tremain bill providing for semi-annual payment of real estate taxes on a graduated per centage scale that in 1935 and thereafter will permit property owners to pay half their tax in one installment and the remainder in another.

REQUISITION SYSTEM IS INAUGURATED HERE

The new requisition system for the city was inaugurated Friday morning. The first purchase made by the price committee was an order of letter heads for the assessor's office.

In the future all purchases must be made by requisition from the department heads, committees, committee chairman, and the council to the price committee. The committee, made up of Mayor John Goodman, Jr., Carl Becker, and Alderman C. J. Wassenberg, will both price and purchase items.

PRIM GOES TO MEET OF CRIME COMMITTEE

Police Chief George T. Prim left for Madison this morning to attend the meeting of the committee on the apprehension and detention of criminals of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work. Francis McGovern, former governor, is chairman of the committee. The committee is working on several bills, which would change the state's present system of apprehension and detention of criminals.

Building Permits

Four building permits were issued by Henry Rehlander, 339 W. Franklin-st, one car garage, cost $150; Mrs. George Hoelzel, 610 W. Lawrence-st, glass porch, cost $185; Mrs. A. T. Eynn, 1015 N. Harrison-st, two car garage, cost $130; and G. E. Felton, 939-B Washington-st, addition to residence, cost $300.

LOOK FOR STOLEN EQUIPMENT IN CITY

A quantity of tools and equipment, stolen by thieves from the Vulcan Manufacturing company at Fond du Lac this week, is being sought by police here at the request of Fond du Lac officials. It was believed that the men might attempt to sell the stolen goods in this vicinity. Among the articles are many cartons of electric light bulbs, hammers, drills, goggles and other equipment.

CINCINNATI ORCHESTRA TO PLAY AT WAVERLY

Harold Grennameyer and his orchestra from Cincinnati, Ohio, will make their first appearance in Wisconsin at Waverly beach Saturday night. They will remain at Waverly for an indefinite time.

CITIZENS DISCUSS DEED RESTRICTION

Property owners in the Loev plat met at city hall Thursday evening to discuss a violation of the plat's deed restriction. The residents appeared to city officials for action against a man who is living in a garage which he recently built, contrary to the deed restriction in the plat which specifies that all residences must be built up to a certain standard. It was pointed out to the group that although there is a violation of the deed restriction there is no violation of a city ordinance, and therefore the city can take no action.

cision of Department of Justice Opens Way for Huge Combine

BY BRADLEY W. TRENT

 New York—(CPA)—At a time in nationwide price slashing is ing to the woes of the oil indus-and when crude oil in the mid-continent area is at the lowest levels the last nine years, the announcement that the government dropped its fight on the project merger of the Standard Oil Co.
 New York and the Vacuum Oil Co. greeted with expressions of tification today both by Petroleinterests and financial circles

he decision of the department of ice opens the way to the union two of the principal units of the Standard Oil Co., which was dissed in 1911, and naturally encour-s other mergers of oil companies.
 11 Street, however entertains no es that flood of oil mergers will w immediately.

Other Combines
 here have also been reports that ard of Ohio and Ohio Oil Co., ht unite, but the present is hard-n auspicious time for this or other mergers, it will be recalled that Vacuum-New York Standard ger plan was initiated more than ear ago, in February 1930. Its as will now undoubtedly be red, in view of the change in the five price levels of the two ks since that time.

That is chiefly occupying the at-tion of the petroleum industry to-is not mergers but overproduc-and price cutting. The price cture in the oil industry has ctically collapsed under the influ-e of Russia production. The Amer-Petroleum Institute reported to-that the new east Texas fields has taken leadership in swelling le oil production. In the week ed May 30, this area increased its y average output 47,150 barrels the preceding week to a total 150,000 barrels. However, the net-case for the country in the week held to 25,000 barrels, as both ahoma and California made slight s in production.

Ask For Stabilization
 the Midcontinent field the indecent producers are crying loudly stabilization of prices and there indications that they are moving nist political aid in bringing consitional action to relieve the sit-on. An Oklahoma congressman even urged President Hoover to a special session of congress to sitigate the price cutting and measures to stabilize the oil in-
 ry. Between now and the regu-December session of congress, it not be surprising if mergers of pendants and even of major facin the oil industry provide the ver to the current clamor for ilization. Economic forces are in working towards amalgama-twenty years after the oil trust
 "busted."

Open Annual Commencement Activities At Lawrence College

CAMPUS STIRS WITH ACTION THIS WEEKEND

Class Day Exercises Scheduled for Saturday Morning at College

Commencement week activities at Lawrence college, which opened with the first sessions of the Alumni college yesterday were in full swing today. The campus again is humming with the hubbub of returned alumni and last-minute graduation preparations, and over the entire college, inside buildings and out under the elms, throbs that spirit of sentiment and gaiety that graduation brings. With scores of alumni already returned and families, and visitors arriving every hour, a huge crowd is expected to witness the Commencement program, which will continue until noon Monday.

The Phi Beta Kappa public address at 8 o'clock this evening at Peabody hall by Dr. Alexander Melkielehn, director of the University of Wisconsin experimental college, is the feature of today's activities. The program will be sponsored by the local chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic society, and will be open to the public.

Lectures On Prints
Mrs. Bertha Jacques, founder and present secretary of the Chicago Society of Etchers, gave an illustrated lecture on the methods of making various types of prints and etchings today. Mrs. Jacques, who is noted throughout the country for her ability as an etcher, brought her own press and reproduced an etching from a copper plate made during the lecture to demonstrate the entire process.

Other lectures in connection with the Lawrence Alumni college were discussions of Shakespeare's Conceptions of Tragedy and Comedy by Miss Dorothy Delbaum, professor of English at Lawrence; a discussion of present day economic problems by Prof. M. M. Bober, and a lecture on Masterpieces of American Painting by Prof. O. P. Fairfield.

The Lawrence college Theatre, under the direction of F. Theodore Cloak, presented three short plays on the stage today at 8 o'clock this evening. "The Open Road" by Leon Pearson, "The Auld Difficulty" by Louis Baring and "The Doctor In Spite of Himself" by Moliere represented the three different types of theatrical comedy light, serious and tragic. The outdoor settings enhanced the artistry of the productions.

Classes Plan Reunions
The classes of 1892, 1894, 1895 and 1898 will gather at the Wood cottage at Lake Winnebago at 6 o'clock this evening for a picnic reunion and commencement celebration of their own. Cars will carry the former Lawrence students to the lake and return them to the dormitories and hotels after the celebration. It is not known definitely how many will attend, but about 30 are expected.

Class Day exercises at Lawrence college, the climax of the year's work and recognition of the merit of leading students, will take place on the campus lawn near Main Hall at 9 o'clock Saturday morning. Bleachers will be erected to accommodate the crowd. The public is invited to attend.

At 10 o'clock Saturday morning Prof. O. P. Fairfield, head of the art department at Lawrence, will lecture on Recent Movements in Art as part of the last day's session of the newly established Lawrence Alumni college. Prof. M. M. Bober, associate professor of economics and business administration, will deliver the final lecture at 11 o'clock on Present Day Economic Problems.

Luncheon On Campus
The entire alumni body will attend a picnic luncheon on the South Campus near the new Alexander gymnasium at 12:15 and a business meeting of the Lawrence Alumni association in the new gym at 2 o'clock. At 3:30 President and Mrs. W. Wriston will head a reception line to the president's house to welcome the graduating seniors, parents, townspeople and friends of the college to the Commencement week program.

Saturday evening the alumni will gather at fraternity houses and sorority rooms for group reunions. No formal program has been planned for Saturday evening because it is expected that the returning grads will prefer an open evening for informal entertainment.

NINETEEN TO ASK U. S. CITIZENSHIP

Hearings Will Be Held in Circuit Court Here Tomorrow

Nineteen Outagamie county residents will make applications at a hearing before Judge Edgar V. Werner in circuit court tomorrow morning for citizenship. This is the first of two naturalization hearings which are held in the county each year. The next will be in November.

Thirteen of the applicants are from Appleton, two from Kaukauna, two from Combined Locks, and one each from Kimberly and Shiocton.

Those from Appleton seeking citizenship are: John H. Rademacher, Theresa Graessner, Babette Huebner, Louis C. Huebner, Mina A. L. Becker, John A. Ruppel, Maria A. M. Ruppel, Herman J. Oederich, George C. Oederich, Charles R. Seaborn, Grace Davidson L. Noel, Herman Schnatzer, Sophia G. Cook, and others. Those from other municipalities are: Fritz A. Friederich, Kimberly; Peter Skripnyak, Shiocton; George Van Cuijk and Maria H. Van Cuijk, Combined Locks; Alvin

81st Lawrence Commencement

Old Main hall will resound this week end with the footsteps of scores of alumni who can remember "way back when", and the elms on the campus will wave over the heads of hundreds of visitors who are arriving hourly for the eighty-first Commencement at Lawrence college. Class day exercises will be held on the campus, business meetings at the library and main hall, and the Phi Beta Kappa address at Peabody hall. Marvin B. Rosenberry, chief justice of the supreme court of Wisconsin, will deliver the Commencement address at Memorial chapel Monday morning, following an academic procession over the campus.

$614 COLLECTED FROM LAWBREAKERS DURING LAST MONTH

36 Pay Fines for Breaking County, City and State Statutes

Fines and costs collected from 36 lawbreakers in municipal court last month totalled $615.57, according to the monthly report of William R. Kieles, municipal court reporter. In addition, there were 23 defendants bound over for trial, seven were sent to the county jail, and one case was dismissed.

The largest amounts were collected under city ordinances. Lawbreakers fined under these laws paid $246.55 in fines, $54 in costs, and $38.60 in officer's fees. Arrests were made as follows: speeding, 10; drunkenness, 6; jumping arterial, 4; reckless driving, 3; and one each for loitering on the streets; driving a car with more than three people in front seat; disorderly conduct; and peddling without a license.

Fines collected under state laws totalled $31.90, costs, $19.70, and officer's fees, $41.02. Arrests under these laws were made as follows: driving a car without a license, 4; assault and battery, 4; passing worthless checks, 3; non-support, 5; drunkenness, 3; larceny, 12; and one each for malicious slander, obtaining money under false pretenses, operating a car without consent of the owner, forgery, threatening to injure a person, illegitimacy and assault with intent to commit a felony.

Under county ordinances fines of $170 and costs of $24.80, were collected. Arrests were made as follows: reckless driving, 5; and one each for driving a car without a license and selling liquor in a dance hall.

PICNIC MARKS LAST OF YEAR FOR PUPILS

The Golden Rule rural school, town of Oneida, closed last week with a picnic to mark the end of the school year. There were two graduates in the class this year. They were Dorothy Dorsey Krueger and Oet Jorgenson. Miss Mildred Vandenberg is the teacher.

GRAND CHUTE MAN IS GRANTED A DIVORCE

Stanley Gillespie, 27, town of Grand Chute, was granted an absolute divorce by Judge Fred V. Heinemann in municipal court Friday morning from his wife, Mrs. Lillian Gillespie, 23, Oshkosh. He charged she was cruel and inhuman and that she deserted him. The couple was wed at Waukegan, Ill., Dec. 7, 1920. Mrs. Gillespie did not contest the suit.

RECKLESS DRIVER FINED $10, COSTS

Ralph Fritsch, Menasha, was fined $10 and costs by Judge Fred V. Heinemann in municipal court Friday morning when he pleaded guilty of reckless driving. Fritsch was arrested yesterday afternoon by Fred Arndt, motorcycle officer, for driving on Memorial in a manner that endangered other motorists on the road.

Richard Kallner, 725 Oklahomast, has returned home from St. Elizabeth hospital where he had been confined with illness.

L. Bunt and Katherine Effa, Kaukauna.

Eleven of the applicants are from Germany, three from England, and one each from Holland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Poland.

INJURED IN FALL INTO DEEP HOLE AT BRIDGE

Albert Kormos, 37, 1350 Pine-st., was injured Friday morning when he fell into a 30-foot hole at the side of the new Law-st. bridge at Kaukauna, now under construction. Mr. Kormos suffered contusions about the body. This was the second accident of the week at the bridge, which is being built by the C. R. Meyer Construction company of Oshkosh. Fred Calieba, 723 W. Summer-st., broke four ribs in a 15-foot fall at the bridge Tuesday morning.

teacher should be able to teach music and something of art."

A. G. Meating presented an outline of next year's proposed program in music and art and vocational guidance studies. He stressed the need of heart and soul in education and said that parents and education boards can't afford to let the children lose these advantages. He asked for board support of music and art programs in the county schools. Beginning in the fourth and fifth grades next year, a program of social studies will be given students. They will study in detail the 2,000 various occupations within the state of Wisconsin as a beginning toward their own vocation.

"Most of us stumble into our jobs," declared Mr. Meating, "when we should be working toward a goal discovered in youth."

Nurse Submits Reports
Miss Marie Klein, county nurse, presented the statistical results of the county medical examination. Awards were given to the three school children who had the highest grades on an intelligence test conducted for 18 county-school students during the morning. Aleta Schwabe of the Cloverleaf school, town of Dale, scored highest with a 98 scholastic average; Adela Peters from the Black Creek grade school was second with 95; Leo Van De Yacht of the Isarar state graded school at Seymour, was third with an average of 92. This is the first of a statewide test and the tests in the six districts in Outagamie county were based on the course of study for the year.

George S. Dick, supervisor of county schools, conducted the question box after the meeting. The questions had been placed in the box at the end of the morning session. They concerned for the most part, the duties of various board members and the extent of authority of the board. Although the state law reads that children may attend school at the age of four, Dr. Dick asked that children of kindergarten age be kept at home inasmuch as there is no place for them at schools in this district.

AGED WEYAUWEGA MAN BREAKS HIP IN FALL

James Haley, 74, Weyauwega, is in St. Elizabeth hospital, Appleton, with a fractured hip. Haley, an employee of the Weyauwega Dairy Products company, was unloading coal from a car Thursday and had put his hands to walk on from the car to the coal pile. He slipped off the planks and fell to the concrete loading platform.

SEEK PARDON FOR MAN SENTENCED IN BANK ROBBERY CASE

Former Proprietor of Road-house Asks Governor for Release

Application has been filed with Governor LaFollette for a pardon for William Clausen, former proprietor of the Log Cabin Inn on Highway 47, who is serving a term of one year in the county jail here for being an accessory after the fact in the robbery of the State Bank.

Freedom several months ago. Clausen was found guilty by a jury of attempting to aid the trio, which committed the robbery. A hearing on Clausen's application has been set for July 1.

Clausen was found guilty by a jury. Two others, charged with the same offense, pleaded guilty. They were Stephen Nash and John Brooks, both of Chicago. Nash is serving a term of three years in state prison at Waupun, being given a heavier sentence because he had a criminal record. Brooks is serving a year in the county jail.

The three youths, all from Chicago, who committed the robbery, also pleaded guilty. Theodore Krueger, the only one of the three who was of age, was sent to the state prison for 20 to 30 years. The other two, Arthur Krueger and Frank Goretz, were sent to the state school for boys at Waukesha.

OUTLINE STEPS TO ESTABLISH SEWER DISTRICT

Special Committee Is Not Ready to Report on Cost of Valley Survey

The legal procedure necessary for the establishment of the proposed metropolitan sewage disposal district is entirely statutory, Joseph LeFevre, city attorney of Kaukauna, told the Fox River Valley Municipalities' association and guests at the first annual meeting of the organization at Conway hotel Thursday evening.

Approximately 75 men, representing city councils and village boards from Appleton, Kaukauna, Neenah, Menasha, Lake Winnebago, Kimberly, Combined Locks and other communities, were present.

All officers except Joseph Doerfler, secretary and treasurer, were reelected. Mr. Doerfler said outside activities made it impossible for him to serve for another year, and August Laabs, chairman of the town of Grand Chute, was named his successor.

Officers reelected are: Mayor B. W. Fargo, Kaukauna, president; Mayor George F. Sande, Neenah, first vice president, and Mayor John Diener, Green Bay, second vice president.

Report Not Ready
A report on the estimated cost of a survey of the upper Fox river valley for the establishment of the proposed sewage disposal district was to have been made by a special committee of four city engineers, but A. E. MacMahon, Menasha engineer, chairman of the committee, stated, that his group was not ready to report, but would probably complete its work at a special session next week.

President Fargo appointed A. J. Hall, Appleton, superintendent of city pumping station and filtration plant a member of the engineering committee. Other members are L. M. Schindler, Appleton; T. M. Charlesworth, Kaukauna; and Antonio Pruneske, Neenah.

"The community having the most population will have jurisdiction over the sewage disposal district if it is established," Mr. LeFevre said.

He traced the procedure of filing petitions for the district, pointing out that 5 per cent of the electors in the district must sign the petition, who voted in the last election for governor, must sign the petitions.

Bound Is Necessary
He also stated that before a hearing could be held on the proposed district, signers of the petition must file bond to pay the cost of proceedings if plans are not approved.

"After a district is formulated, three commissioners are appointed by the county court, who will have supervision over its management," Mr. LeFevre said. "The treasurer of the largest municipality in the district will serve as district treasurer."

"Assessments on laterals to the main sewage line must be born by property owners, city, town and village treasurers. Each owner of money separately and submitting it to the district treasurer."

"Each unit of the district will have control of its own laterals, and assessments on the main artery will be charged to the district. Commissioners may employ engineers and labor to keep the plant in operation."

Discussing feasible sites for the disposal plant, Mr. LeFevre stated that the plant need not be constructed within the district unless the site is convenient. A suitable spot may be picked outside the district if necessary.

May Condemn Lands
"The district may condemn lands or property for acquisition of necessary rights of way," Mr. LeFevre said. "The bonding of the district is entirely statutory. It is a separate legal procedure."

The association went on record approving routing of Highway 41 by way of Wrightstown to eliminate the establishment of grade separations at McCarthy and Van De Hy crossings on the present route.

Speaking in favor of the proposed routing, Mayor Fargo said, "Wisconsin needs such scenic routes as is proposed in the routing of Highway 41 through Wrightstown. The drive along the Fox river from Kaukauna to De Pere is one of the most beautiful in the state, and it is high time that the state highway commission realizes the value of the proposition. Although Wisconsin boasts of its scenic routes, we find most of them running in a straight line, miles from the natural beauty spots of the state."

DELEGATES OF LODGE RETURN FROM MEETING

Appleton delegates to the Grand Lodge session Order of Odd Fellows returned home Thursday evening after the four day convention held Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday at Janesville. Those who attended from Konicmic lodge and Deborah Rebekah lodge include Richard Van Wyk, Robert Burdick, Charles Pardee, D. C. Taylor, Mrs. Alice Ralph, Mrs. Lillian Runnels, and Mrs. Grace Clark.

The decoration of chivalry was conferred on Mrs. Clark at the Wednesday evening session. This is one of the highest honors which can be conferred on a member. The Grand Ball took place Wednesday night.

Mrs. Iva Nelson, Merrill, was elected state president of the Rebekahs. The next convention will be held at Kilbourne next June.

242 GRADUATES OF HIGH SCHOOL ARS AWARDED DIPLOMAS

Find Enjoyment in Beautiful Things, Gmeiner Advises Class

Sweet and serious of mien, 242 graduates of Appleton high school marched in measured procession down the aisles of Lawrence Memorial chapel last night, advancing toward the flower-banked stage for the last time a part of the class of 1931. Reminiscent of the ruffles and furrows of their grandmother's day, the girls in the class were picturesquely garbed in pastel frocks that reached to their ankles, making it necessary for many of them to hold their skirts up as they climbed the stairs to the stage.

"The music for both the organ procession and recessional was played by a member of the class, Leone Tesch. The class marched into the chapel with Sydensen's "Swedish Coronation March" and made their exit with "March aux Flambeaux" by Claude A. MacMahon.

By Class A. A. Park of the music program Elois Smeltzer played a violin selection, the first movement from Mendelssohn's "Concerto, E Minor," accompanied by Miss Mona Owen of the Lawrence Conservatory of Music, and Susanne Jennings presented "The Blue Danube Waltzes" from Strauss.

The Rev. R. A. Garrison gave the invocation and benediction. Herbert H. Helbie, principal of Appleton high school, presented the class of 1931, as the second largest class ever in Appleton high school was accepted by Superintendent Ben J. Rohrer. Samuel Gmeiner, a member of the Board of Education, presented the diplomas.

Gmeiner In Address
Mr. Gmeiner spoke briefly about the future of the class members, admonishing them to find their enjoyment in things which are healthful to mind and body. He said that as men and women they should be patrons for the promotion of the finer things which life has to offer and that the knowledge that each one has gained should be utilized to promote culture and further intelligence. He stressed the thought that the future rests on a practical and time-worn truth of honoring one's parents.

Ellen Balliet and Norman Clapp, as two outstanding students in the class, represented their classmates on the program. Miss Balliet discussed the "Worthy Use of Leisure" pointing out the importance of avocational subjects in high school such as art and literature. In the interesting between studies that are vocational and avocational, she said that the first are to help people to exist, while the second type help them to live more fully.

"That annihilation of bigotry is the biggest task facing education today as art and literature expressed by Norman Clapp in his speech, 'The Challenge to Education.' In explanation he said that the man who thinks he is always right must be taught to be tolerant for other viewpoints and that the person who is influenced by prejudice must be taught to judge impartially. He portrayed the modern world as one of speed, and the crying need of the world is to develop people who can keep up with this pace of civilization. He characterized the modern attitude of education as one "which still smacks of the nineteenth century."

EXPERIMENT ON TELEVISION AT R. C. A. FACTORY

World of Sciences Awaits Appearance of Firm's New Apparatus

BY ROBERT MACK
Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press
Washington—(CPA)—From behind the locked doors of the laboratories of the R. C. A. Victor Co., at Camden, N. J., comes word of rapidly new developments in television, passing in quality anything here before exhibited to the public.

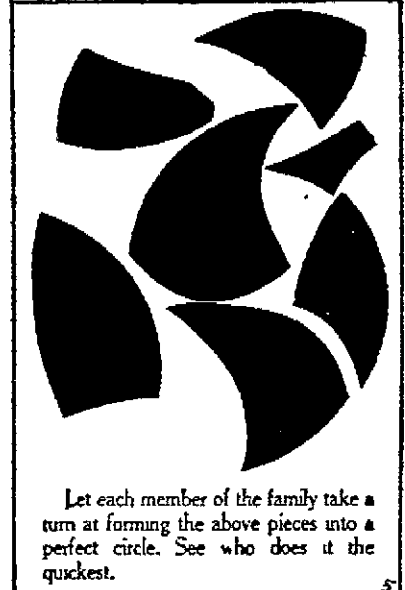

Few have seen this new visual term and the developments have been shrouded in secrecy. This was learned today on unquestionable authority that the system, still in its experimental stage, does away with the old scanning discs used in practice, all existing systems. These two factors are said to have presented the most serious obstacles to practical television.

The cathode ray tube, rather than neon light, is the heart of the R. C. A. Victor television system. An electron gun, which fires light-rays to the tube several million times a second, supplants the revolving scanning disc. The result is declared to be a television picture that resembles the movies, having a blue-white tint, and without the annoying flicker.

Ready By Fall

So substantial has been the progress in both transmitting and receiving apparatus that one prospective television station is holding up its plans until fall, at which time it is expected the R. C. A. Victor transmitter will be available. Station KMOX, in St. Louis, operated by the Columbia Broadcasting System, informally has asked the Federal Radio commission to defer its hearing for an experimental television station until September, in view of "impending developments" in television.

There has been much speculation within the radio industry as to what R. C. A. is doing in television. That company has been content to plug away in its laboratories, with the avowed purpose of producing a "foolproof" receiver for home use and has been most secretive about its line of attack in the experimentation.

The laboratory apparatus of R. C. A. Victor produces a picture of 77 lines, as against the recognized television standard of 60 lines. With these additional lines per "frame", according to engineers, greater clarity of the received image is made possible. The picture is reproduced on the bulb of the cathode ray tube and is said to be visible a good distance from the receiver, obviating the need of "peeping" at the received image.

Abandon Tubes
The cathode ray tube is not new in television experimentation. Failure of the tube to respond quickly to light, however, caused its abandonment in the early visual broadcasting days. With the electron gun, however, this inertia is overcome, it is declared. The tube now costs about $85 and has a life of about 575 hours but production costs could be reduced many fold if it is adopted as standard apparatus, possibly to as low as two or three dollars.

Simultaneously it was learned that experimental television, synchronized with sound, is about to invade official Washington. The Jenkins television station WJZZ at Wheaton, Md., a suburb of the capital city, is to be moved into the quarters of station WJZZ, for the presentation of "radio movies" by next fall.

the sight of the officer, all the spectators and one of the birds fled. Patrolman Nakea looked at the bird and the fighter looked at him. "Well," the cop said, "since you're the only one here, you're under arrest and you will have to go to the station." But the fighting fowl thought different and it was only after a spirited battle with the bird that Nakea could subdue it enough to pack it off to jail.

GOVERNOR AND LEGISLATURE

Governor LaFollette's message delivered to the legislature yesterday, and a résumé of which was printed in last night's paper, is cumulative evidence, and without regard to any person's set notion on any political question, that the governor is not only a straight thinker with the ability to clearly put his thoughts in concise English, but that he has charted out for the state in respect to finances a course of action that is sane and sensible.

In his persistence that dividends from Wisconsin corporations be taxed as income on the same footing with dividends from foreign corporations he is, we believe, fighting an exemption, the reasons in support of which are more imaginary than real. That a total of $42,000,000 of such dividends escapes a state income tax while the farmer, home owner and business man are all bending under a heavy burden, should necessitate reasons far more profound and substantial than any that have yet been advanced.

The legislature has only one alternative and that is to raise income taxes upon corporations and incomes received from earnings or dividends from without the state, which is putting a lopsided burden on some.

The governor's statement that he will oppose appropriations which increase the tax burden on general property and likewise will disapprove any measure increasing the total tax burden could hardly be made by a man unless he had become thoroughly familiar with the history of state expenses in Wisconsin.

In the last thirty years the expenses of running the state have increased nearly 1900 per cent. Whereas it took about $2,000,000 to govern a state with a population of 2,000,000 people, it now costs about $42,000,000 to govern 3,000,000 people.

And although, possibly, it may be demonstrated that the expense of government must increase faster than either population, wealth or income of a people, the great increase mentioned is appalling.

The recommendation in favor of an interim committee to study banking, not only for the purpose of preventing the control of credits from going out of the community that furnishes the money, but strengthening and stabilizing banking in any advisable particular appears as the cautious plan of one who realizes the rather delicate nature of the work ahead and asks the assistance of bankers and other groups in discussing, analyzing and planning a future program.

It is far better to take a little time, three or six months, for careful exploratory work in charting a course than to regret the haste of an ill-advised procedure.

NEW MOTIVE POWER

A development of unusual interest to automotive and aviation engineering is the successful application of the Diesel engine to automobile and aircraft service.

In an airplane powered with a Packard Diesel motor, two American aviators recently broke the non-refueling endurance record by remaining aloft well beyond the 75 hours and 23 minutes set by French pilots.

At Indianapolis in the Decoration Day classic, an oil burning motor operating on the Diesel principle of compression ignition, finished without a stop in twelfth place, averaging 86.17 miles per hour, and with the remarkably low fuel cost of $2.40.

Diesel oil engines, burning low grade fuels and obtaining ignition through heat generated by high compression, have long been successfully used in heavy duty marine and stationary power plant service. These engines operate on the lowest fuel consumption per brake horse power hour of any prime mover yet developed.

In adapting this type of motor to the high motor speeds required for automobile or airplane service, the great difficulties have been the excessive weight per horse power and the lack of positive and quick response to throttle control under the wide variations of speed required.

Although the high working pressures characteristic of compression ignited engines still preclude them from equalling the gasoline motor in lightness of weight per horse power, their elimination of electric ignition, their reduction in number of moving parts, their low fuel consumption and use of cheap distillates, and, above all, their safety in relation to explosion and fire hazards presage their extensive adaptation to aircraft service. For passenger automobiles their wide use has its disadvantages, but the saving in fuel consumption is of exceptional interest to the commercial truck industry.

LIFE

It is highly probable, says Sir James Jeans, that life is a rare phenomenon in the universe.

The sky is bright with hundreds of thousands of stars, but the chances are that few of them are inhabited. Most of them swing through the heavens without any passengers. And Sir James remarks dryly:

"I leave it to you to be pleased or not at a large fraction of the life of the universe being concentrated on our planet."

Planets, Sir James believes, were formed by the close approach to the sun of another star, which, by tidal action, pulled out from the sun a great streamer of blazing gas which eventually condensed, like drops of steam from a locomotive's whistle, into planets.

But the stars are widely separated. Those closest together are relatively as far apart as two or three grains of dust in a large room. Hence, since life can exist only on just the right kind of planets formed by the close passing-together of stars, life must be rare indeed.

All of this, to a race whose utter insignificance in the general scheme of things has been emphasized by science for more than a century, is somehow, rather irritatingly, comforting.

Perhaps there is no good reason why it should be. Those who despair of the universe are usually led to do so by an examination of the follies, cruelties and stupidities of their fellow men, and not by contemplating the empty heavens. There is more despondency to be gained by studying a city slum than in all the books of physical science ever written.

Yet there is comfort in this assertion, nevertheless. We are not exactly rational, and the simple fact that life may have been reserved exclusively for our own little corner of the cosmos makes us feel that our bright dreams, of our own importance may, after all, be justified. Science, which has told us for so many years that we are less than the dust, suddenly turns about and finds that we are very rare phenomena.

To be sure, we knew it all the time—or, at any rate, we suspected it. The finest minds that the earth has produced have always said so; more, they have, by their mere existence, proved it. They have told us that we do not owe our existence to accident, but that we are here miraculously, with all of creation as a back-drop for our slow climb upward. We do not really need a scientist to tell us that life is not a common or an insignificant thing in the universe.

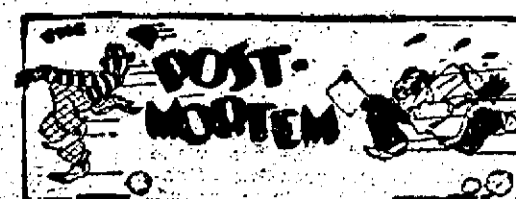

But it is comforting to have one say so, just the same.

Opinions Of Others

A CONFESSION

Nino Pecararo, the London medium who converted the late Conan Doyle to spiritualism, now confesses that his seances were fakes, and says that "people want to be fooled." "I've never," he says, "seen a ghost and don't believe any one else has. When ghosts appear at my seances they are Nino Pecararo in the flesh." To prove his statements, he permitted himself to be bound securely, then freed himself, and wrote two messages, one "from Doyle" and the other "from Houdini," the handwriting comparing favorably with authentic signatures of the two famous writers. "Trickery and science," he concludes, "can do everything I have done." Joseph Dunnigan, chairman of the investigating committee, says that Conan Doyle had implicit faith in Nino and wrote him that "spiritualism rises or falls by him."

This does not seem likely, nor does Pecararo think so. "Eleven years ago," he says, "when I told people I was a spiritualist they didn't believe me. Now I'm trying to convince them I'm not, and they won't believe me." Doubtless we shall before long get the "reaction" of Sir Oliver Lodge to this very interesting confession. Unlike various alleged mediums who have been exposed, Pecararo exposes himself. It does not leave him in a very honorable position, though he says that he has made very little money out of his practice, has given many, perhaps most, of his seances free, but still he has been a part to deceiving those who "want to be fooled," and that he has been engaged in faking for eleven years. So the confession, which is not invalidated, as so confessions usually are, that a penitent sinner "trickery and science" make a pretty strong combination, but it seems impossible to beat—Indianapolis, News.

THERE have been rumors... and there always are... about Mary Pickford and husband Doug Fairbanks about to separate... to which Mary replied, as she and Doug stepped off a train together... "Of course we're separated. Can't you see that I'm in Kalamazoo and he's in California?"... but Mary wants to be careful about those remarks in Chicago... they've got fellows down there who could prove that Doug WAS in California and that Mary WAS in Kalamazoo... and a jury who would indict 'em for something... and a few hoodlums who would probably collect some protection money... watch them remarks, Mary...

PROGRESS

The best is but a step into the better. The goal attained, discovers one unwon. Each year sees man break down some age-long fetter. And do what wise men thought could not be done.

A record's made! Tomorrow 'twill be broken. Who steps in front a while may lead the way. But one behind, whose fame is still unspoken, Will rise to greater glory in his day.

Not even near is man's supreme endeavor. What can't be done, but faintly has been guessed: Progress will whisper to mankind forever: "There is a way to better what is best."

And men will seek it and some day will find it. To give the world a joy it's waited long; The radio had dark centuries behind it. But now it fills the humblest home with song.

Not yet at fastest speed has mortal ridden: Not yet has sculpture shaped the fairest stone. From us today are mighty secrets hidden Which brave men shall discover and make known.

Looking Backward

TEN YEARS AGO
Friday June 3, 1921.

Proposals to end the strike in the Northern Paper mills in Green Bay, which had been in progress for 12 weeks, were accepted by employees at a mass meeting the previous Thursday night and the mill was to be reopened the following Monday.

The marriage of Miss Louise Ryzer, daughter of Peter Ryzer, 1030 Second-st., and William D. Brown, Elkhart, took place the previous Thursday morning at the home of the bride. Earl Watson, Herbert Hellig, and Alfred Root, Appleton, were initiated into Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary fraternal fraternity, the previous Wednesday afternoon at the Sherman House.

Application for a marriage license was made that day by Matt Reymbeau, Little Chute, and Miss Louise Marx, Appleton.

George S. Lavin had returned from a business trip to Chicago.

Erwin Vorel had returned from Wisconsin Rapids where he was employed for several weeks.

La Vahn Maesch was awarded the craftsmanship shield the previous afternoon at Appleton high school at the senior class day exercises.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Friday, June 8, 1906

Charles Sheldon and George Sweetman were to represent the local Blue lodge at the sixty-second annual communication of the Wisconsin Grand Lodge of Masons to be held in Milwaukee June 13 and 14.

Fred Arnold was entertaining the seventh and eighth grades of the Lincoln school at the Maples that day.

Mrs. Victor P. Marshall returned from Chicago the previous evening where she had spent the previous two weeks with friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Rogers had returned from Sheboygan where they were in attendance at the Odd Fellow and Rebekah convention.

Richard Patterson and Ernest Ingold, were to leave for Shawano after the college closed, from where they were to take a canoe trip down the Wolf river.

Personal Health Talks

RIDING HERD IN PAW PAW.

News dispatch from Ann Arbor, Michigan, tells about 26 pupils of Paw Paw starting home in a bus following operations for removal of their tonsils in an Ann Arbor hospital the day before. The school nurse escorted the bus load of children from Paw Paw to Ann Arbor, according to the news item, after examination had shown that 116 Paw Paw school children needed tonsil removal. The nurse planned to bring 25 more children in shortly.

Maybe you never can tell, some doctor was mixed up in this whole sale slaughter of the tonsils. But if it is to be a mere matter of form, for he was not even mentioned in the newspaper item. The school nurse was mentioned.

I take it the whole business was left to the nurse.

That is the custom wherever the tin doctor racket is worked by school boards or health boards and the public is diffident or dumb.

Even if the twenty-six children in the first herd driven in for operation actually needed operation, I ask any self-respecting parent or any body else who has a decent regard for the welfare of children, how would you like to have your own child herded in like that to the slaughter, even if the tyro operators at the hospital clinic gave their services free of charge in return for the opportunity to get experience by practicing on your kid?

I don't know, of course, anything about the motives or the qualifications of the doctors who removed this bus load of tonsils; nor have I any actual knowledge of the rules or routine followed by the school nurse in such matters. I am criticizing the incident from a general point of view. I do know that a great many such tonsil operations are perpetrated on the children of the poor in some such fashion when the operations are absolutely unjustified. No one in authority dares to challenge this. It is a scandal of American medicine. Wholesale tonsil slaughter is almost invariably associated with the tin doctoring evil.

When I say "tin doctoring" I do not mean to criticize the nurse who takes a job as school nurse, store nurse, plant nurse, or anything like that. Nor do I mean to condemn the young doctor who takes a job as medical inspector in school. I should not hesitate to take such a job myself if I were a nurse or doctor and needed the money. The blame for the evil belongs entirely to the local health department or the local school board and the state health department and the state education department. They are the moral grafters who plan and carry out the great socialist schemes which encourage the class of unfortunates in America that seeks medical care at the expense of the public. What is the matter with the vaunted independence and self-respect of the great middle class? Is all that fine spirit to be broken down by the insidious appeal of state medicine? Is the decent, self-respecting American citizen going to let the lowest level of the European peasant who is always willing to accept such charity without a blush?

That bus load of Paw Paw children being led to slaughter makes me wonder what the country is coming to.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Grandma Declares for Bananas for Bambi.

Your suggestion of ripe banana for constipated baby was a wonderful help for my grandson—I wish I had known of this when his mother was a baby! (Mrs. J. B. S.)

Answer.—Oh, 20 years ago it was contrary to Holst to let a child under 5 years of age have any raw fruit. Some old fashioned folk still follow the quaint old-Holst principles: It is a boon to any infant 3 or 4 months old to have a "little ripe" banana every day, especially the puny, peevish, undernourished, constipated infant.

Question Still Open.

By all means, Doctor, let us have that article explaining the facts of life for young girls. As for the man you mentioned, who thought he would not want his 15 year old daughter read your letter on the subject, I would like to tell him that in all probability his daughter will find much worse reading in the trashy magazines and hear more than is good for her to know from her girl friends. (Mrs. C. E. C.)

Answer.—You may be right, Madam, yet I still have much confidence in the opinion of the man about the question. I have no information or advice for girls, but I'll answer any question any girl asks, if she asks it in the right way and I think it will be well for her to have the answer. In fact that's the attitude I take in respect to any letter in query concerning sex questions.

Another Grandmother Bagged.

Perhaps it will cheer you to know you have converted 10 members of our family from cryophobia, including one grandmother (you should be proud to bag a grandmother), two parents, their two children, an aunt and uncle and their three children. (Mrs. H. G. M.)

Answer.—Delighted to hear it. At first I had to get 'em one at a time, one once in a long, long time. Now they're coming over in fives. Before long they'll be surrendering in lots of a hundred or a thousand. Finally we won't have any more fun at all. All the old fossil physicians and health authorities are dying off rapidly now.

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

COURSE Clowny always thought that he was just as good as he could be, so after he had watched the kites for just a little while, he said, "I'll buy a kite and then you all will have a treat again. I'm going to fly mine best of all!" This made the others smile.

Right near his kite field he found a store with all kinds of kites around. He bought one of the biggest and ran back and joined the bunch. They helped him fix some string on tight. "Twas strong enough to hold the kite. Then Clowny said, 'Well find out if I had a happy lunch.'"

While Scouty held on to the kite, Clowny ran with all his might. He shortly shouted, "Let go! The kite shot up, just as it should and Clowny shouted, 'See! I'm good! Just watch the pretty sight now, as it flutters in the breeze.'"

Up, up it went, my what a kite! It seemed it would rise out of sight. Of course this tickled Clowny. He was proud as he could be. The others gave him credit, too. They didn't know that he could do so good a job of flying. Coppy loudly shouted, "Geel!"

An hour or so passed quickly. Then the bunch walked on their way again. Soon Coppy heard some music coming from a nearby park. Up to his car he held his hat to listen, saying, "What is that? You all will hear what I do, if you'll only stop and wait!"

"Let's walk into the park and see," said Scouty. "Come, let's follow me." And soon they came upon a maiden playing music rare. As right up close to her they went, they saw a real queer instrument. They listen to her play a while. She didn't seem to care. (Copyright, 1931, NEA Service, Inc.)

The Tynmites see a very interesting sight in the next story.

Now that girl caddies are being employed on European links, perhaps golfers will consider their own form a secondary matter.

A Bystander In Washington

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—Do you ever think, as you read some big national story from Washington on the front page of your newspaper, of what a tremendous amount of effort is involved in bringing the news to you?

Perhaps the story is on a new tariff bill which would influence the cost of living for every citizen. It might be a presidential message of vital import. Or perhaps a story from the state department hinting of war. It is no rare thing for a Washington reporter to have handed to him suddenly and for immediate publication huge documents of great value.

And he must search frantically through thousands of words to get the meaning. For his wires are waiting to scatter it everywhere. If the news is big enough, the first paragraph will be in San Francisco almost before his second is finished.

Tariff Turn 'Nightmare'

Consider, for example, that story which is referred to by news men as something closely akin to a nightmare—the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill. The text of the bill first became available 15 minutes before it was ready to be printed. There were 424 pages in the bill alone, and in addition a 247-page committee report was attached. There were 2,000 or more changes in its 10,000 specific rates. There also were drastic legislative changes. The whole was buried under 250,000 words.

In 15 minutes the chief element had to be found, phrased and started on its way. If the reporter did not do this he risked being "beaten" by rivals.

Well, at 11:48 there began moving over The Associated Press wires to the member papers, automatically available to these papers at noon, the new and old sugar rates—the hub of the controversy—with a summary of all rates.

Speed And Skill

By noon the summary was completed. Two men did the work, jumping from bill to report and back again on each item to get a comparison between old and new rates. But their work had just started. Before they had finished that day's work, written the story for morning papers the next day and had obtained comments of important senators and representatives they had worked a total of 13 straight hours.

In this connection I am reminded of the story which L. Simpson, of the Washington AP staff, tells of how he composed his "Unknown Soldier" story which won a Pulitzer prize in 1921.

Simpson wrote his story in "takes." That is, as fast as he would complete one or two paragraphs they would be taken down by his typewriter and put on the wire.

He didn't have an opportunity to read his story in full until it appeared in the papers the next day.

Today's Anniversary

GERMAN AIR RAID

On June 5, 1917, the third of a series of air raids took place when 15 German airplanes came over the North Sea and dropped many bombs on the small towns and villages in Essex and Kent.

Only 14 of the raiders returned to their home base, for two were brought down by British guns. The British casualties were low, only two being killed and 29 injured.

The raiders met with a lively reception, extra precautions having been taken by British authorities after the previous raid. The Germans were attacked by British aviators before they had an opportunity to carry out their raiding intentions to any great extent, and the British anti-aircraft guns were very effective.

The official statement said that the raiders also attacked the naval establishments in the Medway. A considerable number of bombs were dropped and a certain amount of damage was done to houses, property and the damage done to naval and military establishments was practically negligible.

Paul Whitehead is said to be the one white man leader in "Who's Who." To be sure, he's a pretty big man.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—It is rather difficult to imagine that solemn gentleman, Henry L. Stimson, secretary of state and No. 1 man in President Hoover's cabinet, in the role of wisecracker and jester.

Stimson utterances and statements are invariably given in the most serious manner. No jocularity is evident, whether it be at an informal conference with newspapermen or in an assembly of international importance.

But he can be facetious, it seems, when he cares to be. And especially if he is among the members of that profession with which he has been associated so long—law. At a luncheon the other day of the Washington bar association, the secretary of state introduced Ambassador Claudel of France. The ambassador, for the French bar, was to present to the American bar a set of Sevres porcelains valued at $2,500. The gift was an outgrowth of a visit American lawyers made to Europe in 1924.

Kids the Lawyers
Stimson elected to kid the lawyers. Probably it was his purpose to steer clear of anything like an official utterance. Whatever his reason, he apparently forgot affairs of state completely when he proceeded to kid those who had made that European trip.

He likened the visit of American lawyers "to the defenseless coast of Britain" to the "Biblical swarm of locusts."

"The price of silk hats rose on the exchange of London 50 per cent. If you met a gentleman in a silk hat walking down the Strand or Piccadilly, the chances were seven to 10 that he was a member of the American bar."

"A sturdy band of patriots marched on Dublin. Another more modest group of which was a member sought the ecclesiastical shades of Edinburgh. But the elite crossed the channel and enjoyed the hospitality of France."

That Paris Invasion
With this latter group, he was a bit more specific:

"Records show they visited the Palais de Justice and Sainte Chapelle. . . . I will not pry into the records fall to show as to the places of their visits. But that it was a delightful occasion was evident from the unanimous testimony of all."

Want of money in America, the absence of so many lawyers had, the secretary said reports differed.

"But," he remarked, "I have been credibly informed by economists that the presence of so much unexpected money in the unworthy pockets of clients was responsible for the current state of gross speculation which has landed us in our present state."

His words brought much laughter. It was something decidedly "un-Stimsonesque."

Barbs

There is likely to be the sort of a summer when a business man won't have to leave his office to go in to the country for rest and quiet.

Those Belgian balloonists, pointing to the success of their recent ascension, can say, "It's in the bag."

IMPROVEMENT IS EEN IN FOREIGN ONEY MATTERS

It looks in Austria Looks Considerably Better at Present Time

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright 1931, by Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York—(CPA)—
The rally in the stock market is only a respite or whether proves a longer term recovery, at least affords an opportunity to weigh other factors in the economic situation, as could not be done when a tension was concentrated on continuously falling prices for curities of these other problems.
e most interesting is that predicted by developments abroad. As as the trouble in Austria, so d their repercussions on German ditions, the outlook is definitely proved. All the testimony from other side agrees on this point d sentiment here swings the same
y. The announcement earlier in week that the New York federal erve bank, cooperating with the er institutions, has entered into redit arrangement in favor of the strian national bank, was a connective move of the highest imortance, one the significance of ich was in large measure lost in a preoccupation of Wall Street
th its own stock market troubles.

Conference Important Politically, of course, the conference at Chequers between the British prime minister on the one side d the German chancellor and German minister of foreign affairs on the other, has far-reaching effect.
is taken for granted that preparations will be discussed and that in a form or another Germany's request for relief will be presented.
nly as an expression of opinion, may be stated here that eventually the Young plan will be revised as the Dawes plan, was but never that may be, any lightening of the German burden will not ect adversely German obligations ld by individual investors payable dollars, in pounds or in any other urrency.

Honest Effort Seen
Probably the same could be said out other foreign investments, if t so emphatically. There has en hurried liquidation in the uth American line, which had re justification perhaps in certain stances but which has been total-lacking in discrimination. Admittedly, the political and financial outlook in almost every country in the continent to the south of us has been and is disturbing, but it is the rule rather than the exception among these debtors that they are making an honest effort to put their houses in order. Because two countries have defaulted and the default of another has been widely predic-ed, it does not follow that all South American obligations are to cease paying interest. Meanwhile, most of these securities have discounted about everything that could happen in their market price.

There has been no real excuse also, except that of freight, for the deflation in the market valuation of second grade domestic bonds. If the stock market debacle can be checked, and it would seem that it would be to the advantage of the bankers to check it, investors can perhaps again be brought to consider the merits of investment opportunities at home in the form of fixed

ISSUES WARNING AGAINST FIREARMS IN CITY LIMITS

Another warning against the use of rifles, air guns, sling shots and bows and arrows in the city limits has been issued by Police Chief G.
T. Prim. Youngsters caught using such weapons will be arrested and hauled into juvenile court, he says.
"Too many complaints are being received from people in various parts of the city, who claim that youngsters playing with .22 calibre rifles, air guns, sling shots, and bows and Interest rate bearing securities.

Many of these are on the bargain counter simply because of the panicky flight of capital to United States government bonds.

arrows are menacing life and property," Chief Prim said.
"Other warnings have been issued in the past to both parents and their sons, but they haven't done much good. "More effective means will have to be put into force if the practice is not stopped immediately."

MILK PROFITS SECOND TO COTTON IN U. S.

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington—Milk runs a close second to cotton for the first place among cash income products of the farm and during the five-year period 1925-29, annually put $1,432, 648,000 into the farmers' pockets, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This sum amounts to 14.62 per cent of one-seventh of the cash income from all farm commodities and is only 7-100 of one per cent less than the annual revenue of $1,460, 107,000 from cotton.

This announcement, which is of the prominence of the dairy industry in the state, also stated that hogs, cattle and calves ranked third in importance as a source of cash income, while eggs and chickens rated fourth.

Leaders Of Church Body Are Elected

MR. AND MRS. MARION SMITH were elected to head the Homebuilders of Memorial Presbyterian church at the last meeting of the season in the form of a picnic Thursday evening at High Cliff. It was decided that the term of office will be changed from a year to six months, officers being elected to serve from September until January, when a new group will be elected to serve until June.

A program of games and skits took place after the picnic dinner. The committee in charge of the picnic included Mr. and Mrs. Rex Wells, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Borow, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Smith, and Mrs. Thomas Zerbe.

The Ladies Aid society of Zion Lutheran church held a social meeting Thursday afternoon at the school auditorium. Twenty-three members were present. The committee in charge included Mrs. Lena Haase, Mrs. Anna Kuntz, Mrs. Bertha Koesel, Mrs. Bertha Kuenenbecher, Mrs. Louis Kestel, and Mrs. Marie Kuehl. There will be no more social meetings until the first Thursday in July. A special meeting will be held soon to decide on the date for a picnic.

The Women's Missionary society of First Reformed church will hold a picnic the last Thursday in June, according to plans made at the meeting Thursday night at the home of Miss Louise Kippelman, S. Mason-st. There will be no regular meetings in July or August.

Mrs. E. P. Franz spoke on Early Migration of India, Miss Eva Engel displayed a miniature Indian village and spoke on the religions of India, and the Misses Louise and Hilda Kippelman. Mrs. Meyer dramatized the fifth chapter of the study book, "India on the March." Miss Louise Kippelman led the devotion. Twelve members were present.

A social hour followed the business meeting of the Ladies Aid society of St. Paul Lutheran church Thursday afternoon at the school hall. Seventy members were present. The social committee included: Earl Joecks, Mrs. Charles Gehl, Mrs. Herman Horn, Mrs. Ray Haase, Mrs. A. J. Herrmann, Mrs. Ed Harp, Mrs. William Kluge, and Mrs. George Kleier.

Mrs. Gust Tesch gave the topic on China at the meeting of the Missionary society of Trinity Lutheran church Thursday afternoon in the sub auditorium of the church. Sixteen members were present. Hostesses were Mrs. B. Selig and Mrs. J. Homblette. The group will continue meeting during the summer months.

Several articles on prohibition were read and discussed at the meeting of Women's Christian Temperance Union Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Flora Kethroe, 320 W. Washington-st. Flower mission day will be observed at the meeting in two weeks, the place of which will be set later. Ten members were present.

The Fl-Wi club was entertained at the home of Miss Jennie Boehler, 1000 N. Richmond-st., Thursday evening. Court whist was played and prizes went to the Misses Deida Timmers and Josephine Helein. The next meeting will be held Thursday evening, June 18, at the home of Miss Laura Block, 900 N. State-st.

A meeting of the Ladies Aid society of First English Lutheran church was held Thursday afternoon at the church with 30 members present. Regular business was transacted. The Missionary society will meet in two weeks.

The Sodality of the Blessed Virgin of St. Mary church will hold a food sale Saturday morning at Geenen's store. Miss Ramona Ryan will be in charge.

PARTIES

Mrs. Fred Poppe, 711 E. South River-st., was hostess to Past Matrons at a garden party Thursday afternoon at her home. A short business session was held after which the afternoon was spent in formally. Supper was served at 6 o'clock. Twenty-two persons were present, out of town guests being Mrs. Earl McCourt, Port Arthur, Can.; Mrs. L. Pardee, Antigo; and Mrs. Mary Main, Fond du Lac. This was the last meeting until September.

Miss Yvonne Heinzel and Loyal Schmidt entertained at a dinner and dancing party at the Conway hotel Thursday evening following the graduation exercises at Appleton high school. Guests, all members of the 1931 graduating class, were the Misses Gertrude Mittag and Muriel Belling of this city and Margaret Gosz of Menasha, and Orville Schmitt, Norbert Schwab, and William Delgen.

Group No. 4 of St. Therese church will sponsor a card party and ice cream social next Wednesday at the parish hall. Ice cream will be served in the afternoon and evening and cards will be played in the evening. Schafkopf, dice, bridge and plumpack will be played and a lunch will be served. Mrs. Ray Hopfensperger and Mrs. Matt Weber will be in charge.

Miss Margaret Heckle, 1213 W. Eighth-st., entertained at the second of a series of parties for members of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority Wednesday night at her home. A buffet supper was served and bridge followed. Prizes were won by Miss Virginia Schumacher and Miss June Schaefer. About 10 guests were present.

Ten tables of cards were in play at the card party sponsored by the

SORORITY WILL HOLD REUNION THIS WEEKEND

Alpha Delta Pi sorority will hold its annual reunion over the weekend, beginning with a tea given by the active chapter from 2 to 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the chapter rooms on E. Lawrence-st. A dinner will be served Saturday night at Riverview Country club at which the five senior actives and the patronesses will be guests. The annual business meeting and election of officers will follow the dinner.

The reunion will come to a close with a dinner Sunday noon at the Sign of the Fox, Neenah. It is expected that about 30 out of forty alumnae will return for the weekend.

Golf Pro Gives Talk To Women

GEORGE VITENSE, golf professional at Butte des Morts Golf club, gave a talk on rules and other phases of golf at the first meeting and tournament for women Thursday afternoon at the club. Mrs. John Engel, Jr., was in charge of the meeting, which was attended by 52 women members. Plans for the coming season were discussed, and it was decided to carry out the weekly golf tournaments every Wednesday the same as last year, with guest day the first Wednesday of each month. A luncheon will be served every Wednesday for those who wish it, and members may bring guests.

Mrs. H. L. Davis was appointed bridge chairman for next week and Mrs. August Brandt will have charge of golf. No flower committees have been appointed for this year, as the members will bring flowers whenever available.

The annual luncheon, and final meeting of the Wednesday club took place Wednesday afternoon at Riverview Country club with about 45 members and guests present. Mrs. M. A. Wertheimer reviewed the current play, "The Barretts of Wimpole Street." The club will resume its meetings in the fall.

The Thursday club met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Emma Ludwig, 921 E. Washington-st. The club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. Alex Mignon, 727 W. Harris-st.

Ladies Aid society of St. Joseph church Thursday afternoon at the parish hall. Prizes at schafkopf were won by Mrs. C. Kaufman and Mrs. Joseph Schreiter, and at plumpack by Mrs. Wenzel Neugebauer. Mrs. Schreiter was in charge.

Members of the General Review club and their children were entertained at a picnic Thursday at Menasha park as the last function for the season. Swimming provided entertainment for the children, and the adults played bridge. The club will begin its regular schedule of meetings in September.

Delta Gamma alumnae of Appleton will serve a 6:30 dinner Saturday night at the chapter rooms on E. College-ave for alumnae who have returned for Commencement at Lawrence college. A short business meeting will be held and a social hour will follow.

Children's Hands Should Be Cared For

BY ANGELO PATRI
It would seem idle to say that children's hands are precious beyond all price but the lack of care that are given some hands make a teacher sad. Hands are a great force for education, for the increase or development of the intelligence. Hands are intelligent when they are trained.

The care of the hands is important. First the skin must be kept as clean as it is possible to keep it.

A washing with soft warm water and good soap comes first. The drying ought to be thorough; no water left to dry between the fingers, above the wrists, and the like. The wiping extends to the nails which are to be gently rubbed as the cuticle is pushed back.

There is to be no dirt left on the hands after washing. All the grime that was collected under the nails and about them, in the wrinkles of the knuckles, is to be washed out, cleaned out completely. Grit or dirt of any kind irritates the finger ends as these finger ends are the tips of one's intelligence, they must be carefully guarded.

You see all one learns about the world must come through one or more of his senses, and it is kneaded into his intelligence by passing through the hands in some form of expression. Unless you do something with what you know it is not of much use to your intelligence. Use it and it becomes a source of power. That is why I say your finger ends are the tips of your intelligence. Irritated finger ends are always put in the mouth to be soothed. That means nail biting, thumb sucking, hang nails, sore and stunted fingers. Much of this can be prevented by taking care to keep the finger ends comfortable. Washing them, touching them with soothing cream, polishing the nails, adds power to the hands—and therefore to the mind. A finger nail that is well polished is not likely to be bitten. The hard polish is not grateful to the teeth. A smooth and therefore comfortable finger end is not likely to be put in the mouth, and so injured. It is a good idea to keep the finger nails polished, even though they have been bitten to the quick; in an effort to prevent nail biting.

Hands out to be useful. If they are not trained to do useful accurate work they are not truly intelligent hands. They have not been allowed to do their full share in the development of the person who owns them. If you study the hands of a useless person, and those of a skilled worker, you will see the story clearly written for you. Useful hands have a vitality that is beauty though they be calloused and worn.

Just what sort of work one does with the hands is not so important as the doing. What counts most of all is that the going is an expression of the person's inner worth. When hands express what the mind conceives the intelligence is released into power. Hands are so very important that we cannot afford to neglect them.

The Story of Sue

MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

A small button on the wall had attracted Sue's eyes. She remembered that it connected with the tichen. A speaking tube was with it. When the bell was pushed it rumbled upstairs and the cook or anyone who heard it could see what he laundress wanted.

"If I push it and keep ringing till everyone gets alarmed somebody will come," Sue reasoned. She had to get to the bell. She had shadow the tube so Sybil wouldn't see it. She moved restlessly. Then, Sybil scanned the driveway, she gradually eased herself along the all until she came to the bell. She at down on a bench in front of it. He was glad that it was low.

After a few seconds she put one and behind her and felt the button under her fingers. Then she pressed. Firmly. Persistently. She couldn't all if it rang or not. Upstairs was so far away. She couldn't talk to anyone who might answer. But may-

After a very long time had passed, it seemed to Sue, although it was just a minute, she heard Corinne's voice. She didn't release the pressure in the bell until she had cleared her throat to make her voice steady. Then she addressed Sybil.

"You aren't a very good sport to keep me shut up down here while you wait to kill Jack, Sybil Lester," he said.

If only her tones would carry to Corinne! She had tried to keep her mouth turned to that tube, thankful that the basement was so dim and shadowy with just the gleam of Sybil's flashlight to show one girl here the other was. What? Sue heard Corinne say the word. "Sue! Sue! Answer!"

"I'll do as I please, it's my game," Sybil flung back at Sue, but Sue didn't care what Sybil said. She had shivered her purpose. She had let Corinne know where she was. Corinne would send help.

But she must sound a warning for Corinne.

"If you heard anyone coming, I suppose you would shoot me right away, wouldn't you, Sybil Lester?" "Certainly!"

"Well, I hope if I have any rescuers they come as stealthily as thieves at the night."

Another little gasp came over the tube. Down the road the light of a car flashed. Sue could get their reflection at she couldn't see the car. If she knew! If she made a move Sybil would shoot!

A car had turned in at the driveway. Sue could tell by the crunch of gravel under the wheels. There was something about the rhythmic song of its engine that reminded her of Jack's roadster. The engine stopped. Sybil was standing so she could over Sue with her gun in a fraction of an instant, at the same time that she watched the window.

Yoked Bodice

BY ANNEBELLE WORTHINGTON

Its quaint pretty air would make any wee girl of 2, 4 and 6 years the center of admiration.

And it's just as simple as can be and oh! so smart and so entirely different.

The original French model combined plain and sprigged dimity in pink coloring.

The brief yoked bodice in the plain pink dimity matched the trimming bands of the skirt.

Your little girl will look just as sweet in Style No. 2686.

Only 1 1/2 yards of 39-inch material with 1 yard of 39-inch contrasting is required to make it for the 4-year size.

Pastel shades in batiste, plain and pin dotted linen, printed and plain batiste, cotton broadcloth prints, crepe de chine, dotted swiss, voile and organdie are smartly appropriate for this cute model.

Vacation Days are here again!

So nearly here, at least, that it's

"Is it... it it..." Sue was almost afraid to mention Jack's name.

She must throw herself on Sybil, take away that gun.

Then as she heard the short, hard laugh that fell from Sybil's lips, she knew that it was Jack. He had come back. She must act. Now! She didn't know that she called Jack's name as she threw herself on Sybil with the quick lissomness of steel muscles that came from school athletics and tennis and swimming.

But she hadn't realized that there is strength in madness, too. Not until she felt Sybil's hands digging into her throat. And the coldness of the metallic weapon against her face.

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vane

SECURITY FOR THE FUTURE MORE IMPORTANT THAN STOLEN HAPPINESS—ADVICE TO QUICK-TEMPERED LOVERS

Dear Miss Vane: Three years ago I earned myself a bad reputation by jilting a girl at the last moment before our marriage. The whole story is too long to be told, but I have paid heavily for my lack of chivalry. I am now desperately in love with a seventeen-year-old girl whose mother is prejudiced against me because of my former conduct. The mother has forbidden my girl to see me, and yet I must see her somehow. What do you advise? Are clandestine meetings advisable in a case such as this?

R. A. Judging from your letter, and the age of the girl you love, you're pretty young yourself and there's time ahead of you in which you can prove that you've lived down the past scandal about you.

At present what can you offer the girl you love? Nothing but a time for you to be thinking about your Summer wardrobe.

We've prepared a book to help you plan for the most colorful fashion period of the year. A book that offers the best selection of styles for the season for the adult, miss, stout and child, and helps the reader to economize.

You can save $10 by spending 10 cents for this book. The edition is limited so we suggest that you send 10 cents in stamps or coin today for your copy to Fashion Department.

Be sure to fill in the size of the pattern. Send stamps or coin (coin preferred).

Price of book 10 cents.

Price of pattern 15 cents.

slightly soiled reputation and apparently not the ghost of support. You aren't ready yet to look her mother straight in the face and say: "Here I am. I want to marry your daughter. I've had a damned good record for several years. I've proved by my constant devotion to your daughter that I am taking this thing seriously. And if you're fair at all you'll give me the chance to marry her." Until you can make rather a sweeping statement like that, you haven't much to stand on. You won't gain anything with clandestine meetings. If mother finds out about them, there'll be another black mark against your name, and good marks you might have received for being a good boy of late would automatically be cancelled.

It's hard to tell young people to wait, for no one wants to wait for happiness, but you'll gain more by working hard and making the future secure, than by planning secret meetings now and endangering your reputation further.

SHERLY: Well the chances are a hundred to one that you will marry the boy and continue to have occasional wars with him all the rest of your life. You see, you love each other and that's hard to get away from, even though you might each be better suited temperamentally to someone else.

You're both quick-tempered, you're both jealous, you both have decided opinions. It stands to reason that love isn't going to run smoothly in your family. On the other hand, you're congenial, you have very similar tastes, and you love each other. Certainly on this basis you should make a success of things, however often your temperaments clash.

But since you both know the truth—know each other's weaknesses, and how easy it is for you to disagree—why not try to take life as it comes? It will be difficult for both of you. You're not made of philosophical stuff. But since you're intelligent human beings, presumably you can make an effort in the right direction.

The next time your tender feelings are hurt by an outburst of jealousy, try to curb the angry retort. What's the use of fighting? You know perfectly well that the battle will end in some sort of reconciliation and that it's futile to go on warring and making ugly scenes. You can half stop this quarreling, yourself, if you'll put your mind to the job. So far you've simply plunged into a quarrel whenever opportunity offered.

Both of you are sweet-tempered, as a matter of fact. But superficially you're ready for any argument, and consequently you can never keep peace. Just use your common-sense and avoid rows, instead of encouraging them with sarcastic speeches, and unfriendly ridicule. You can do this. You seem to be aware of the cause of the trouble, and having ascertained the true cause, you should be strong enough to effect a cure.

G. D. M.: Write the letter at once. If you wait even two months longer you will have missed your chance for a real reconciliation.

A group of people surprised Mrs. August Strohmeyer at her birthday Wednesday evening on her birthday anniversary. Cards were played, and prizes in whist were won by Mrs. August Wruok, Mrs. S. C. Martin, Mrs. Strohmeyer and Mrs. Harry Kamp, and in bridge by Miss Hyland and Miss Smith. The hostesses were Mrs. Alvin Fisher and Mrs. I. J. Cloutier.

DIVORCE GRANTED TO WOMAN AT MENASHA

Neenah—A divorce has been granted Genevieve Stalander from Michael Stalander at Menasha. The defendant first contested the suit, but later withdrew his answer. The judge, however, withheld his decision, asserting he was not entirely satisfied to grant the decree.

The plaintiff alleged cruel and inhuman treatment, and the defendant alleged his wife has shown interest in other men. The couple was married in 1925 and has one child. Under terms of the decree, the defendant is to pay $18 a month for support of the child. He also will pay the suit money and attorney fees.

CONGREGATION PLANS ITS ANNUAL OUTING

Neenah—St. Paul English Lutheran church congregation and Sunday school members will hold its annual outing Sunday at Riverside park. The Sunday school will meet at the church as usual and have the lesson, after which the children will proceed to the park to join adults in the morning outdoor service to be conducted by the Rev. E. Fritz. A picnic dinner will follow the service, after which the afternoon will be occupied with games and athletic contests.

WITNESSES TESTIFY IN DIVORCE ACTION

Neenah—Witnesses in the divorce action of Edna Baril, Neenah, versus Nelson Baril, continued from May 22, named more men with whom it is alleged Mrs. Baril has kept company. Four men were named by witnesses on the first trial date. Mrs. Baril, on the stand Thursday in county court, denied any improper relations, and asserted she sought their company because her husband mistreated her and refused to take her to places of entertainment.

How To Play Contract Bridge

By Wilbur C. Whitehead

TAKING OUT A NO TRUMP CONTRACT WITH A BREAK TWO SUITER

Salient Points of Bidding

Contract: South, West and North pass and East opens the bidding with One No Trump. South passes and West, in accordance with the preamble, takes out with Two Clubs. North passes and East bids Two No Trump. West should have at least 1 1/2 tricks in his hand or else a type of hand calling for him to make a further bid. South passes and West has a break two-suiter, bids Three Spades. North passes and East bids Four Spades, concluding the bidding.

Auction: South, West and North pass and East opens the bidding with One No Trump. South passes and West bids 2 Clubs. North passes and East bids 2 No Trumps. South passes and West bids 3 Spades, concluding the bidding.

The Play

North opens the Queen of Hearts and West takes the trick with the King. West should not immediately enter Dummy in order to discard his Seven of Hearts, for to do so would put adversary in the position of forcing him to trump, and if there should be an adverse distribution of the Spades, this might prove fatal.

Accordingly, West takes the Spade finesse and South wins the trick with the King. Instead of taking the Ace of Diamonds and surrendering, South returns the Heart in hopes that West will put himself in to draw the last trump by trumping the Heart. North may still have a stopper in Clubs. West now discards his Seven of Diamonds and takes the trick with the Ace of Heart in Dummy.

After leading the two Spades from Dummy, he leads the Queen of Diamonds. West returns to win this trick but wins the second Club trick with the Ace and plays his last Club for South to trump. West, however, makes the rest of the tricks giving him four odd.

South had returned the Ace of Diamonds. West returns to win this trick but wins the second Club trick with the Ace and plays his last Club for South to trump. West, however, makes the rest of the tricks giving him four odd.

Mr. Whitehead will answer on question at a time concerning your bridge problem. Write to him in care of this paper, enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope. Copyright 1931 by The Edl Syndicate, Inc.

MENASHA OFFICIALS ATTEND CONFERENCE

Menasha—Menasha city officials attended the banquet meeting of the Fox River Valley municipalities association at Appleton, Thursday evening, participating officially for the first time since the organization was created. Although Menasha has always been represented at the meetings, the city made no definite affiliation until favorable aldermanic action was taken Wednesday evening.

Those who were appointed to attend were Mayor N. G. Remmel, A. E. McMahon, city engineer, M. F. Crowley, city attorney, and John Jedwabny, city clerk.

DEDICATE LIBRARY CHILDREN'S ROOM TO FIRST LIBRARIAN

Unveil Picture of the Late Miss Lucy Lee Pleasants

Menasha—The new children's room of the Menasha public library was formally dedicated to the late Miss Lucy Lee Pleasants, Menasha's first librarian, when her picture was unveiled in the new quarters Thursday afternoon.

The painting was presented to the library, on behalf of the Pleasants family, by George Banta, Jr., and was accepted by Hugh Gear, a member of the library board. Miss Harriet Northrup, librarian, unveiled the picture.

Briefly summing up the history of the library, W. H. Miner, library board head, revealed the work of Miss Pleasants in providing the first public library facilities in Menasha. He told of the gift of Elsie D. Clark to the library building, and explained how Miss Pleasants worked for 23 years to make the project a success.

Miss Pleasants was instrumental in providing for the new children's room, starting a fund which would eventually allow construction of the new quarters. Additions to the fund were made each year, and resources continued to grow after her resignation in 1919, until her dream was finally realized in the construction of the addition last year.

Library officials and a number of friends witnessed the ceremonies Thursday.

HOLZKNECHT HEADS ST. MARY ALUMNI

Annual Banquet Meeting Is Held Thursday Evening at Auditorium

Menasha—George Holzknecht was elected president of St. Mary high school alumni association at the annual banquet meeting in St. Mary auditorium Thursday evening. The election of officers and business meeting preceded the dinner and dancing party.

Hillard Walburn was named vice president; Carl Resch, secretary; Migatha Weber, treasurer; and Joseph Resch, chairman of the St. Mary dramatic club. Christian Mothers of St. Mary's parish, and St. Mary band mothers assisted in the service of the banquet.

The program opened with the welcome address by Joseph Resch, retiring president, and Migatha Weber, president of the graduating class gave the response. Short talks also were given by Carl Resch, senior class vice president and Mardelle Reimer, senior class secretary. The association constitution was read by Mary Sues, alumni secretary, and Robert LaCount presented the treasurer's report. A dancing party concluded the evening's program.

"BLATHER" NOT NICE WORD IN PARLIAMENT

London—(AP)—The term "blather" is a fighting word in the house of commons.

Laborite Member Elijah Sandham said "blather" while Sir Dennis Herbert, Conservative, was speaking early today in favor of an amendment to a government motion limiting the time of debate on the finance bill to ten days.

The speaker told him to withdraw the word or leave the house. He did the latter, emphasizing his displeasure by omitting the customary bow to the chairman. The amendment was defeated and the bill carried.

ordered deported, two killed, four awaiting trial, five fugitives, six cleared of charges.

The commission restated its purpose to "continue the campaign until all are punished." It gave special credit to the government's income tax prosecutions, all of which have been successful to date.

"God of All Nature" will be sung by the graduates, and diplomas will be awarded by the Rev. John Hummel, pastor of St. Mary's church.

COURT CHANGES WON'T HIT DIVORCE DECREES

Mexico City—(AP)—Divorce decrees granted to Americans at Cuernavaca are not expected to be affected by changes made in the divorce court personnel and procedure.

Judge Manuel Carpio, known to hundreds of American couples who dissolved their marriage bonds in his court during the last few years, turned over his job to Manuel Gallana Monday and at the same time it became known that a new chief of police had been appointed for Cuernavaca.

Judge Gallana said that no information would be given to the press on future divorce cases pending in his court, indicating that Judge Carpio's practice of receiving newspapers

Flight Over Pacific Set to Start After June 22, Son's Birthday

He is equipped for it, having learned navigation, how to tell by stars where he is, since he became famous. Mrs. Lindbergh's ability to pilot the plane will give the colonel ample opportunity to make observations. She too has studied navigation.

Possibly the Lindberghs will meet another flier while over the Pacific. Selji Yoshihara, known in his own land as "the Japanese Lindbergh," plans to fly to the United States along the same route the colonel may take. Naturally wings could dip in salute if they sighted each other.

SHANGHAI ELATED
Shanghai — (AP) — News of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's proposed trans-Pacific flight and airplane tour of Japan and China was received here with enthusiastic approval by Chinese and foreigners alike.

All agreed the tour was destined to bring desirable and far-reaching developments in Chinese-American relations, including political and commercial aspects.

Chinese official and commercial circles welcomed the famous flier's coming, declaring "America's good-will ambassador" will receive a sincere and unreserved welcome by the Chinese nation.

Commercial and aviation interests view the projected flight as heralding a great step toward establishment of trans-Pacific commercial air routes.

INVITATION FROM MANILA
Manila — (AP) — An effort was unrolled here today to induce Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife to visit the Philippines on their projected trans-Pacific flight and tour of the Orient this summer.

James King Steele, executive secretary of the Philippine Tourist association, dispatched the following telegram to the famous aviator: "Commercial aviation in the Philippines desperately needs stimulation. Come help us. Greetings."

FLIGHT CALLED "SOUND"
St. Paul, Minn. — (AP) — The projected flight over the North Pacific of Lindbergh and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh was described today by two writers who helped blaze the aerial trail over that route, as a "sound undertaking."

The fliers, Erik Nelson and Jack Harding of Seattle, Wash., members of the 1924 army round-the-world expedition, said rapid mechanical progress in aviation in the past seven years, had greatly reduced flying hazards. They added that uncertainty either rather than any technical state would constitute the chief risk of the Lindberghs' proposed flight.

"Look at the progress in engine building alone," said Nelson, "we see motors which are obsolete now."

"Look at plane construction," interrupted Harding. "Now lighter, stronger, more durable and more efficient aircraft is available, the result of intensive experimentation. We know pretty well what all materials and types of construction will do. That increases the safety factor. A great deal has been learned about flying and Colonel Lindbergh is one of the best."

"The Pacific was tough," Nelson said, "but the Atlantic was tougher."

man, such as his love of a certain type of anecdote, a taste which he never overcame and the expression of which, as will appear, was so marked a feature of his manhood and so shocking to the eminent men among whom he did his historic work."

Dr. Brill named as other authorities for the anecdotes "Carl Sandburg quoting Henry Villard," and Dr. Holland's Abraham Lincoln.

"Looking at this behavior with present day eyes," Dr. Brill said, "I cannot be shocked by any of Lincoln's stories that I heard or read. To be sure he called a spade, a spade, and having been brought up in the back woods of pioneer days, he did not possess the inhibiting influences of a New England environment."

"Lincoln had to cope with enormous trials and vicissitudes, poor heredity from his father's side, humble birth, abject poverty, struggle for education, and an unsatisfied love life, all of which he summed up in the story of the boy who was asked whether he liked ginger bread."

"Es," he said, "I like it more than anything else, but I get less of it."

"But despite these handicaps, he attained the highest ambition of any American. Nevertheless throughout his life he was unable to disburden himself of his depressive moods."

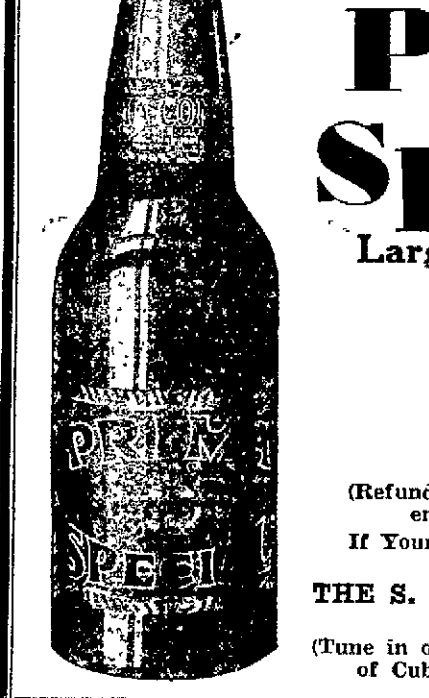

Dr. Brill said there are "many authorities" for the existence of these moods described variously as the

I think a route farther north in the Pacific than we took would be even safer, for the length of the water jumps can be reduced.

"There is no saying that there are not risks but the maneuvers which we have just witnessed in the east by the army indicate how careful planning and improved equipment can reduce hazards to a minimum."

Nelson declared, "Certainly the risks Colonel Lindbergh will face do not compare with those we chanced in his flight over the Atlantic."

Nelson and Harding stopped here on route westward with a group of army fliers returning to their base in California from the eastern maneuvers. They said they planned to return to Seattle during the next week.

blues, melancholy, abstraction, and mental depression.

"To any psychiatrist," Dr. Brill says, "the above mentioned descriptions are quite plain. We know that in the ordinary case of manic depressive psychosis, the depressions are often followed by a phase of elation. As far as my investigations go no distinct manic attacks were ever observed in Lincoln."

"There were no doubt numerous mild euphoric rises (general spirit of elation) which showed themselves in his incessant story telling, and in his fluent wit."

"Judging by all the descriptions given of Lincoln's depressions, I feel that all one can say is that he was a schizoid manic personality, now and then harrassed by schizoid manic moods. These moods never reached to that degree of profundity to justify the diagnosis of insanity. At all times Lincoln remained in touch with reality. His ego never sought refuge in insanity."

"Those who study the deeper recesses of the mind will readily understand the nature of this emotional surging. Two contrasting natures struggled within him—the inheritance from an untutored, roving and unstable father, who treated him brutally, and from cheerful, fine, affectionate mother from whom Lincoln claimed to have inherited his power of analysis, his logic, his mental activity and his ambition."

"His mental regressions were shallow and transient in comparison to the pathological escapes one sees in the psychoses and intoxication. But humor does furnish an escape from pain."

BELIEVE MAN STOLE COAT FROM APPLETON

Police here have been asked to determine from police at Manitowoc whether a ladies winter coat, which was taken from a Chicago man arrested in that city this week, has been stolen from Appleton. The man was arrested when he attempted to sell the coat, a brown and tan plaid sport winter garment with a beaver collar. Police here are examining the records to determine whether such a coat was reported stolen here.

ORGANIZE CHILD THEATRE GROUP IN RIVER VALLEY

John Schiebler Elected President at Meeting in College Hall

Organization of a permanent children's theater group of the Fox river valley, the name of which will be selected later, was completed at a meeting Thursday evening in Main hall, Lawrence college. The following officers were elected: John Schiebler, president; Mrs. Frank Hamer, first vice president; F. Theodore Cloak, second vice president; John Sjolander, business manager; Alan Hardwood, chairman; Lucille Kranhold, Miss Lillian Plotkin, and Arthur Smith.

Discussion on the method of selling tickets and the securing of patrons and patronesses for the organization took place. It was decided to attempt to secure the aid of individuals and clubs in donating blocks of tickets for children financially unable to attend the performances. Representatives from the public and parochial schools will be named to the board of directors.

The members indicated their preferences for work on various committees, to enable the committee chairmen to choose their workers. There will be a meeting of the officers and committee chairmen at 7:30 next Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Evelyn Long, 537 N. Drew-st., when complete committee lists will be drawn up.

Anyone interested in this Little theater movement is eligible to membership in the organization and may secure further information by calling Mrs. F. Theodore Cloak, director.

See Three New Records When Valley Track, Field Teams Meet

MANITOWOC IS GIVEN THE EDGE OVER OSHKOSH

Appleton Expected to Annex Third Place; Orange Defending Champ

PREP athletic competition in the Fox River Valley High school conference for 1931 will be concluded here Saturday on Whitling field, when seven of the eight schools send a host of gifted track and field athletes to challenge at least six worthy marks that now adorn the record book.

The records in jeopardy in the tenth annual classic include the mile, half mile, low hurdles, high jump, shot and discus, figuring on the basis of excellent performances turned in by conference thralls in the meets this season.

3-Way Duel Predicted

A three-way duel is predicted for the team championship in which Manitowoc is given an edge to squeeze past Oshkosh and Appleton. East Green, Bay View and Appleton's team are the favorites for the title last year with 442 points. Manitowoc was second with 383 points and Appleton third with 348. Others scored as follows: West Green Bay, 20; Oshkosh, 12; Marinette, 8, and Sheboygan, 3. Fond du Lac does not compete in track.

Manitowoc moves into the favored spot for the title by virtue of its fifth place showing made in strong competition May 23 at the state meet in Madison. In piling up 11 points, O'Neil won the mile for Manitowoc in the fast time of 4:38; Captain Egan took second in the 120 high hurdles and third in the high jump, while "Red" Peterson won fourth in the 220 yard event.

Coach Joseph Shields of Appleton will depend on Capt. Jerry Hecker to bring him points in the half mile; on Cavert to bring honors in the dashes and on Mortell in the hurdles and high jump. Jim Neller will have to produce in the pole vault and Rule in the broad jump. Babino should cop something in the mile if he chooses to run and a few points may be picked up in the weight events.

At least three conference records are expected to fall. Among them is the half mile mark, the discus and shot put. The half mile mark has been broken by Hecker, Appleton, and he is expected to repeat. Champ Seibold, Oshkosh, is expected to return home with the discus and shot records.

Present Records

The present list of conference records is as follows:

100 yard dash—Johnston, Appleton. Time—10.4.
200 yard dash—Hughes, Manitowoc. Time—23.5.
440 yard dash—Sharp, West Green Bay. Time—34.8.
880 yard run—Schroeder, Manitowoc. Time—2:07.5.
Mile run—O'Neil, Manitowoc. Time—4:38.
120 yard high hurdles—Goldenburgh, West Green Bay. Time—1:12.
220 yard low hurdles—Towsley, Manitowoc. Time—27.5.
Broad jump—Johnston, Appleton. Distance—22 ft. 1 in.
High jump—Orlebeck, Sheboygan. Height—5 ft. 10 1/2 in.
Pole vault—Bonrann, Green Bay. Height—11 ft. 13 in.
Shot—Johnston, Appleton. Distance—46 feet.
Discus—Seibold, Oshkosh. Distance—120 ft. 5 inches.
Javelin—Schroeder, Manitowoc. Distance—179 ft. 6 inches.
Percy Clapp, director of athletics at Milwaukee Normal, will be the starter. The meet is being managed by Principal Herbert Heible of Appleton.

Wrightstown Badgers whom the Appleton Pure Milk baseball team defeated last week at Wrightstown will invade Erb park Sunday afternoon for the local club's weekly Badger league game. The count in the battle last week was 7 and 5 for the Milks. The team now is tied with Darboy for the top position with four wins and one defeat. Darboy is the only club to gain a decision over Appleton.

Other games next Sunday will show Darboy at Forest Junction seeking to avenge a trouncing last Sunday and Hollandtown at Green Bay.

Last Sunday's Darboy-Forest Junction game saw the former beaten 5 and 5. Greenleaf was given a sweeping victory by Greenleaf in the other battle last week, 13 and 0.

Compete in Valley Track Meet

Third place honors are hoped to go to Appleton high school track team tomorrow at the conference track and field championships here. The Orange squad is the defending champion. Front row: Cavert, Dietrich, Neller, Babino, capt. Jerry Hecker, Krohn, Verrier, Frank, and Mortell. Seated: Managers Nolan, Buss and Wiese.

House Of David Ball Team And Pete Alexander Beat Menasha Falcons, 14 And 2

BY GORDON R. MCINTYRE

MENASHA—What a whale of a difference a few whiskers make!

Several hundred Menasha and Fox River valley baseball fans gathered here last night to see the Menasha Falcons take a 14 and 2 trouncing from the House of David baseball team under the management of Grover Cleveland Alexander, one time member of the Chicago Cubs and the St. Louis Cardinals.

The House of David boys all were very much in need of a shave and one of two needed a hair cut. That's where they get their reputation and their badly-hoed, for personally we think most of them are ambitious young men who have tried to make the grade in the major leagues or in the class AA and have failed. They have joined the House of David team, get a good salary and have only to play ball and grow a beard.

But as ball players the boys are good. However, without that chin adornment they probably wouldn't draw a corporal's guard unless fans came to see "Old Pete."

As far as the ball game goes the initiators of the Smith Brothers went out and scored five runs in the first two innings and then at the behest of Mr. Alexander they counted a few more times and finally ended with 14 markers. Menasha in the meantime was finding the slants of a Mr. Tolle hard to connect with and one run in the third and one in the seventh was all the boys picked up.

The game was played under lights and to many persons the battle was a new and interesting experience. The ball could be followed very well throughout the game although the antics of one or two Menasha fielders indicated they probably had trouble judging flies.

When new balls were in use things were fine, when old, dirty balls were in vogue it wasn't easy.

The game almost ended prematurely. In night baseball nothing happens when a ball goes out of the lot, it's come back. The boys used 15 balls last night which Alex said wasn't many. In the seventh and eighth frames every time a ball went over the fence the athletes had to look around for another one. "Tis said the last ball used in the game didn't even have a cover on it.

The box score below tells about the hits and runs and errors and so on and so forth. For that reason we'll depart from the usual line about the fracas and recite activities on the House of David.

Old Pete Alexander didn't get into the game in any other capacity than as coach and to bat a few grounds during infield practice. The veteran is to hurl at least five innings in Milwaukee tonight, and anyway, it is not warm enough yet for his arm. So he spent most of the evening on the bench directing the boys.

Doesn't Like Crowds

Alex apparently likes his baseball and likes to win. He continually admonished the boys to hustle along and get runs, offered a little encouragement to a player here or there and had a good word for his pitcher almost every time he strode to the bench.

When the game started Alex worked along the first base coaching line but he returned to the dugout and spent most of the evening there. About the seventh inning he ambled out to the third base coaching line and then beat it for his car in center field so he wouldn't be around when the game ended and wouldn't have to cater to the crowd.

Alex doesn't like crowds, is not the fellow who puts on a big show and apparently doesn't give a whoop for autograph seekers. A Menasha youth sought his autograph before the game started and Alex turned him down. Yet during the fracas he chatted continually with a youngster who sat on one end of the bench.

This particular chap was cheering for Menasha when Alex heard and said "Young man you can't do that. You'll have to cheer for us if you sit here."

half miler will lead the team tomorrow in its assault on the records. Members of the team are—

RIVER-INTER UPSETS WOOLEN MILLS, 6-3

Bankers Beat Milks in National League; Foresters Are Beaten

One of the season's biggest softball upsets occurred last night in the American league when the Riverside-Interlake team which recently was reorganized went out and knocked off the Woollen Mills, 6 and 3 at Roosevelt school. The Papermakers previously to last night hadn't won a game.

Two runs in the first inning started the Papermakers on their way to victory but they sewed up the game in the second frame with four tallies. The Mills scored one run in the first inning, another in the second and a third in the seventh.

The American league shows another battle royal tonight when the Power company meets the Fox River Paper company. The Fox River team hasn't lost a game this season.

Bankers Down Milks

In the National league the Bankers broke into the win column again by downing the Appleton Pure Milk company team, 22 and 4 at Pierce park. The Banks hit the ball hard, Schroeder battling 1,000. He connected for a home run, three doubles and two singles. Batteries for the Bankers were Wissman, Timmers and Steegbauer, Siefert.

Foresters Beaten

The Fraternal league game last night saw the Zion Lutheran society bump the Foresters by a score of 10 and 3. Verwey, Gresenz and Tank worked for the winners and Beck and Kitzinger for the losers.

Appleton Team Tied in Parochial Loop

Two Catholic school baseball league games which concern the two Appleton teams are being played tonight, one at Appleton and one at Menasha. The St. Theresa team meets Holy Name of Kimberly here and St. Mary, Appleton is meeting St. Patrick at Menasha.

Tuesday St. Mary team defeated the unbeaten St. Theresa team 3 struck out—by Powell 2, Zenefski 1. Tolls 13; bases on balls—off Powell 4, Zenefski 1. Tolls 13 hits—off Powell 14 in seven innings; off Zenefski 2 in two innings; passed balls—Krysiak; hit by pitcher—by Powell, Moore.

Good Word For Rogers

Alexander can't figure out the stories about Rogers. He says his experience with Rogers as a player for him and against him showed Rogers to be pointed in remarks but requiring only that ball games be won and that the men play ball when on the diamond.

"I never had any trouble with him," Alex said. "Even in the world series all he said in the last game against the Yankees was 'the bases are full.' " It's Alex' opinion that the stories about Rogers were started by some one who was angered at Rogers' rebuff and when the Cubs fell down a bit the yarns started to fly.

Hack Wilson probably has been trying too hard, Alexander believes, and the new ball gives a pitcher a chance to throw something at the batter that isn't as slippery as a bil-lard ball.

And Alex is surprised at the "wide open" cities he has found in Wisconsin.

MILWAUKEE BREWERS FACE TEST AS THEY OPEN WITH SAINTS

Need to Win Series if They Are to Stay in A. A. Flag Race

CHICAGO — (P)—Milwaukee's Brewers today faced a critical spot in their battle to remain in the running for the American association title. The "spot" was the opening contest of a four-game set with the league leading St. Paul club.

Milwaukee, just inside the .500 class, needs to win the series with the Saints, if it is to remain within striking distance of Louisville and Columbus, which today were virtually tied in second place, one and one-half games in front of the Brewers. While Milwaukee is battling against the top club of the league, Louisville will be meeting Toledo, which is tied for fifth place with Minneapolis and Kansas City, and Columbus is tackling Indianapolis, the cellar occupant.

The Brewers yesterday divided a doubleheader with Minneapolis, dropping the opener, 7 to 2, and rallying in the ninth to win the second, 4 to 3. Phil Hensick pitched steadily in the opener and Charley High's batting, which included a homer with two on, aided much in the Miller triumph. McCullough held Milwaukee until the final inning of the nightcap, but was nipped for two runs then and lost the ball game.

Louisville slipped back a little by losing the series final to Columbus, 10 to 5. The Red Birds slammed Joe De Berry and young Ed Walsh for 15 hits, including four apiece by Gudat and Riggs, while Roy Parmelee and Archie Campbell held the Colonels to ten.

St. Paul not a five 1st pitching job from Bryan Harris and defeated Kansas City, 6 to 1. After the first inning when Denver Grigsby doubled and was sent home by Eddie Pick, the Blues were helpless against Harris' pitching, while the Saints found Max Thoma, and Joe Maley for 15 blows, including a triple by Davis and a homer by Hopkins.

Indianapolis and Toledo had to go twelve innings before the Indians gained a 7 to 6 decision. The Mud Hens got away to a 5 to 0 lead in the first four innings, but Indianapolis kept pecking away to tie the count in the ninth and win in the twelfth on doubles by H. Fitzgerald and Koencke.

J. C. C. COMMITTEE TO REPORT ON GOLF MEET

First reports on the progress made by the committees for the first annual Wisconsin State Junior Chamber of Commerce golf tournament, which will be held here in July, will be given at the initial meeting of the state executive committee Friday evening at the Y. M. C. A.

and 2. It was the first defeat for St. Theresa in eight games. Dan Hockie hurled for the St. Mary nine and was effective in the pinches. A feature of the game was a steal home by Joe Hobbins, St. Mary third sacker. DePrey's circus catch of Rankin's fly which was ticketed as a homer was another feature. Rankin hurled for the St. Theresa team.

The defeat leaves the two teams tied for first place with eight wins each and one defeat. If both win games tonight they will play off the tie later.

Flint, Mich. — Lou Sozza, Buffalo, outpointed Roy Williams, Chicago (10); Freddie Heinz, Saginaw, knocked out Bertie Mott, Chicago (2).

Wisconsin Has Good Crew But Not Title Contender

BY HENRY J. MCCORMICK

Madison State Journal Sports Editor

COACH "Mike" Murphy has a good Wisconsin crew this year but one that can scarcely qualify as championship contender in the Poughkeepsie regatta June 16.

It would appear that Columbia, Washington and Cornell will be heavy pre-race favorites with Syracuse rated a trifle better than the rest of the field that numbers Wisconsin, California, Navy, Penn and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Columbia, favorite with many to win the 1931 Poughkeepsie varsity championship, won further supporters when it drew the "rabbit's foot" lane—number 2. Just inside of Columbia, hugging the shore of the Hudson, will be Pennsylvania. On the outside of Columbia in the order named will be M. I. T., Washington, California, Wisconsin, Navy, Cornell and Syracuse. The number 2 lane is called the "rabbit's foot" lane because more races have been won in it than in any of the others. In general, the inside lanes are the best, this being particularly true in case of rough water.

Tests Settle Boating

The Wisconsin boating was pretty definitely settled after Tuesday night's tests in which Coach Murphy tried out William Lumpkin in Charles Tessenford's bow seat and William Hovey in Aaron Ihde's number 4 berth; Ihde and Tessenford won back their varsity berths in actual rowing trials.

In addition more races have been won in it than in any of the others. In general, the inside lanes are the best, this being particularly true in case of rough water.

Perch fry as you like them at Camel's. Combined Locks.

The writer has not seen as much of this year's Wisconsin crew as he did those of the last eight but Coach Murphy's declaration that this year's Wisconsin varsity is the best he has had in the last three years just about fits my sentiments.

It isn't a great crew that Coach Murphy has developed, but it is a good crew and, after all, you can number all of Wisconsin's great crews on the fingers of one hand and have a thumb to spare.

The boat is impressive at a 32 beat and that is its biggest endorsement as a candidate for a high place in the Poughkeepsie regatta, where the four mile distance presents a problem in endurance and spacing of power. If the Badgers row their own race and meet with no mishaps they should finish along in fifth place with a fair chance of slipping up into fourth and a better chance of being dropped to sixth.

Stroke Woodward is a smooth oarsman who gets the most out of a crew at a 30-34 beat; still, he raised the stroke to an even 40 at the end of Tuesday's final practice spin and the work was smooth and clever though the spacing was not impressive.

The crew is not bulky but there is little excess weight and it has a resiliency and spring that was lacking in Wisconsin eight of the past few years. There is a dynamo of power in the middle of the boat in such men as Smedal, Zabel, Ihde and Obereck and there is nobody in the present varsity beating who can be called a "passenger."

It Wisconsin places better than fourth at Poughkeepsie than Columbia, Washington and Cornell are being vastly over-rated. California is a crew something on the order of last year's Badger eight—wonderfully smooth in its rowing but without any impressive amount of power or speed.

Crew Leaves Today

When Stroke Woodward carries up the beat in the Wisconsin varsity the men have a tendency to "rush the slide"—come back too fast on the rolling seat after the finish of a stroke—and this probably will be the case.

SHIELDS AND WOOD NAMED TO CUP TEAM

Youngsters Will Represent U. S. in Davis Trophy Competition

New York — (P)—Two New York youngsters, one in his teens and the other just out of them have been named with George Lott and John Van Ryn to represent the United States in Davis cup tennis play abroad.

Twenty-year-old Frank Shields and 19-year-old Sidney D. Wood, who carried most of the burden in American zone competition against Mexico, Canada and the Argentine, will sail tonight for Europe where they will join Lott and Van Ryn in London the week of June 15.

After a week's practice, all four will play in the Wimbledon championships and then go to Paris to meet the winner of European zone competition for the right to encounter France in the challenge round. Present indications are that the Americans will battle either England or Japan in the inter-zone finals.

The team is one of the youngest ever named to represent the United States in Davis cup play, averaging a little more than 22 years in age. Lott and Van Ryn, although veterans of international play, are only 25.

CLEVELAND IS JUNIOR LOOP'S MYSTERY TEAM

Lost 14 Out of 15, Now Have Won 10 Straight; Hack Homers

BY GAYLE TALBOT JR.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

THE Cleveland Indians, at least, have enjoyed the satisfaction so far of keeping the remainder of the American League guessing. It is difficult to tell whether they are the best club in the minor circuit, or the worst. They insist on resembling one or the other by turns.

Roger Peckinpaugh's mysterious men started like world beaters, winning nine of their first twelve engagements. Then, with little or no warning, they turned in and lost 14 of their next 15. Just now they are in the midst of another winning spurt that has reached 10 straight, and carried them back into the first division, only a game behind the third place Yankees.

Whatever the final fortune of the 31 Indians—it can at least be said they did things in a big way.

Ves Ferrell, apparently fully recovered from his no-hit performance a month ago, held Boston to eight scattered hits yesterday as the Tribe made it three straight over the Red Sox, 10 to 2. He helped his own cause with a homer in the ninth.

Earnshaw Wins Another

The leading Athletics and second place Washington Senators kept pace by continuing their slaughter of the visiting western clubs. Philadelphia, with George Earnshaw pitching three-hit ball, took its third win from the White Sox, 4 to 1, and General Alvin Crowder pitched the Senators to a 5 to 1 victory over Detroit. It was Earnshaw's eighth win in a row. Jimmy Fox gave him a nice working margin by hitting home runs in the second inning with one out.

The St. Louis Browns jumped on Charlie Ruffing for seven runs in the first four innings to make it two straight from the Yankees, 8 to 6. Oscar Melillo's great hitting streak as broken at eight straight when he flew out in the first inning.

Pittsburgh and Boston supplied the day's thriller in the national, with the Pirates squeezing out a 2 to 1 triumph. Ray Moss, recently purchased from Brooklyn, held the Pirates scoreless until the last of the ninth, when they tied the count. They finally put across the winner when Paul Waner as hit by pitched ball, reached second on a sacrifice and was singled in by Bill Regan.

Honors Give Cubs Win

Hazen (Kiki) Kuyler, Chicago outfielder, cracked one into the bleachers in the last of the ninth with one on to give the Cubs their second straight over Brooklyn, 6 to 4. Hack Wilson looked like his old self as he hit his third homer of the year, singled, drew a walk and scored the first three Cub runs.

The Cardinals stretched their lead to two and a half games again by noosing out the Giants, 6 to 5. Bill Hallahan, pitching his first full game of the year, got the decision over Carl Hubbell when Adams doubled to start the ninth and was singled in by Pepper Martin, a pinch hitter.

After allowing only four hits for seven innings, Ray Benge of the Phillies blew up in the eighth and Cincinnati scored four runs to make it two straight, 5 to 2. Pinky Whitney, Phil third baseman, hit safely in his eighteenth consecutive game.

VINCÉ DUNDEE BEATS JEBY IN 10 FRAMES

New York — (AP) — For the second time in little more than a year, Vince Dundee, Baltimore middleweight, has proved his mastery over the young east side Hebrew, Ben Jeby.

While one of the smallest crowds in the history of boxing in Madison Square Garden looked on with only slight interest, Dundee outpunched and outsmarted Jeby last night to gain a split decision in ten rounds. The referee, Jack O'Sullivan, cast his ballot for Jeby but was outvoted by the two judges.

Dundee won the first four rounds, coasted through the next four and then came out to win the last two and the decision. The bout was fiercely waged in spots but it was a dull affair to watch with almost all the action waged at close quarters.

The crowd numbered less than 4,000 and receipts were barely $8,000.

ORANGE NETTERS GO TO VALLEY TOURNEY

Three Appleton high school tennis players, Bob Shannon, Norman Clapp and Frank Dean will compete in valley competition tomorrow at Oshkosh. Five conference schools, West, East, Appleton, Oshkosh, and Manitowoc are entering players. Drawings take place at 8:30 tomorrow morning and play will follow immediately. The three local boys will compete in singles and Shannon and Clapp in doubles.

PLANT GARDENS AS PART OF PROJECT AT ONEIDA SCHOOL

Superintendent Helps Youngsters Raise Vegetables, Shrubs

BY W. F. WINSEY
Oneida—One of the most difficult duties of school teachers and parents is to plan out-of-school activities for grade school boys that are attractive, recreational, profitable and educational.

In the Guardian Angel Boys' school of this village, the superintendent and teachers are constant companions of the boys. They study tendencies and individualities of the boys and make use of these personal characteristics in mental and physical training programs.

The Rev. Edward J. Lemieux, superintendent, recently noticed that a group of boys amused themselves by digging up plants in groves at the school, and transplanted them in old places in the park. They also planted grain, vegetables and flower seeds in spots where growth seemed almost impossible.

These spontaneous attempts at gardening suggested to the Rev. Mr. Lemieux the plan of a garden plot for each one of the 80 boys in the school. Sixty-six boys below the eighth grade are now provided with plots. The choice of vegetables, flowers and shrubs was given to each boy. The seed has been planted and the vegetables are doing very well, the superintendent says.

The young gardeners are to go into encampment on the school farm this summer where they will enjoy swimming and many other kinds of sports.

June 18 will be garden inspection day at the school. At that time prizes will be awarded to the most successful gardeners. The Rev. Paul Rhode will be present at the inspection.

DIVIDES FIELD TO BETTER PASTURAGE

Plans to Give One Stand Rest While Cattle Graze on the Other

BY W. F. WINSEY
Following a custom of some of the dairymen of Germany and this country, Henry Lodholz, route 1, is dividing his pasture with a fence with the idea of giving one part of his field a chance to rest and recuperate while his cattle are pasturing on the other part. His pasture, a mixture of red clover and timothy is not doing much this spring on account of the drouth.

His small grain planted about two months ago is at a standstill, he said. He has 23 acres of a mixture of red clover, alsike clover and timothy, for hay that is not doing much in the way of growth. His 15 acres of corn is showing a good stand above the surface. He mixed soybeans with his seed corn. He expects to plant three acres of cabbage or the same acreage as last year. This spring he hauled his last year's crop of cabbage out of storage onto a field.

Mr. Lodholz is feeding 20 Guernsey cows and getting $2 per hundred pounds for 4.4 per cent milk.

FARMER CONSTRUCTS WINDBREAK OF TREES

Encloses Stand of Seedlings With Wire Fence on Cicero Farm

BY W. F. WINSEY
Seymour—In time to come, Charles Mueller, route 1, will have one of the most beautiful and serviceable windbreaks on the north side of his farm buildings in his part of the town of Cicero. On Wednesday, Mr. Mueller and his two sons were enclosing the windbreak with a wire fence to protect it from farm animals. At the present time, as a result of considerable work, Mr. Mueller has an excellent system of drainage in service in the lowlands on his farm.

With the fence he was building on Wednesday, he encloses 1,500 white pine seedlings that were planted this spring in a field of sweet clover. He planted 500 Spruce seedlings a year ago. The sweet clover will act as fertilizer and protect the seedlings. Before he cuts the nurse crop of sweet clover, Herman, one of Mr. Mueller's sons said that he would mark the location of the seedlings with stakes so that no damage would be done in cutting the nurse crop.

This spring, he installed 2,000 tile in a 20 acre field after County Agent G. A. Sell had given him the levels and drainage plans. Two years ago he installed 1,000 tile as mains and drainage outlets in another field. Several years ago he began his drainage project by installing 5,000 tile.

It's Time for California Peaches and Kellogg's

SURPRISE the family with a wonderful treat tomorrow at breakfast. Order a can of luscious California Canned Peaches from your grocer and a package of oven-fresh Kellogg's Corn Flakes. Serve together.

What a medley of crispness and flavor! The taste of juicy fruit and toasted corn! Watch how appetites pick up.

Kellogg's are extra good for lunch too. Ideal for the children's supper. So easy to digest and healthful. Great for a late bedtime snack.

Don't forget the breakfast "surprise." Mark it on your grocery list, now.

More than 12,000,000 people each day enjoy Kellogg's, the world's most popular corn flakes. You'll surely prefer their wonder flavor and crispness. Sold by all grocers. Served by restaurants, hotels. Always oven-fresh in the waxtite red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

USE-- APPLETON PURE MILK or CREAM,

Enjoy Kellogg's Corn Flakes and California Peaches to the utmost

Appleton Pure Milk and Cream are health foods, yes, but they are more than that. Besides building bone and tissue and creating energy and stamina, this "perfect food" is so delicious in combinations with other foods.

Drink plenty of Appleton Pure Milk and Cream. They're so good for you, they taste so good, and they're pasteurized for your protection.

Extra Care Makes It Extra Good

You'll also like this combination as a dessert, for the children's supper, as a healthful bedtime snack. Easy to digest. Wholesome and nourishing. No trouble to prepare. Ready to serve at a moment's notice.

If you don't know what delightful results you can achieve with Kellogg's ready-to-eat cereals, California Canned Peaches and Appleton Pure Milk Co.'s Pasteurized Milk or Cream, now is a good time to order this combination from your grocer. Let good things get together.

SYNOPSIS: Like a dream are the years which Tony Lafour gave to the stage, but vividly he remembers his childhood with Harriet Noel in the village of Orchard Hill 70 years ago. Even today the derisive townspeople hint shameful mystery in the abrupt end to the young actor's career and his return to his parents' home there. Philosophically tolerant, Tony now views life as a play, with Harriet—her exit made—watching her son, Pierre, achieve theatrical fame; Pierre, endowed with his mother's talent, must have also from her inherited his soul, for Tony says that Pierre's father, Roy Donovan, had none to bequeath. Tony, happy that he has helped Pierre attain renown, mentally unrolls his old associations with Harriet, whom he had loved devotedly.

"Uh huh." He held up his string of fish for her approval. The girl's voice thrilled with admiration. "Oh, did you catch all those? How do you ever do it?"

A warm glow spread all through the boy; inside and out he tingled with rapture.

Late that night when his parents were sound asleep, the boy stole out of his bedroom window and followed the path to the house where the girl lived. For an hour he stood under the stars, watching the square of light which was the window of her room. Old Tony laughs now when he says: "I did not know until long afterward that it was the window of the old housekeeper's room, and that Harriet's room was on the other side of the house."

The path which led from the two homes on the brow of the hill to their favorite nook were deeply worn during the years which followed.

Chapter 2
LOVE IN THE BUD

THE Lafour house is on the brow of Orchard Hill, where the higher land upon which the village stands drops steeply down to the valley and the river. A half mile or so away, also overlooking the valley pastures and meadows, stands the old house where Harriet Noel lives.

About midway between the two houses there is one of those pretty half-hidden retreats often seen in a country where hills and valleys meet. In Tony's boyhood this valley land was a pasture—as it is today. Always there is the pleasant smell of grass and flowers and trees and cattle and warm moist earth.

The boy was fishing that Saturday afternoon in Cherry Creek. It was one of those days in late spring when everything is young and bursting with the sap of life.

When the shadows lengthened toward supper-time the boy set out across the pasture for his home—bare feet and legs browned by the sun—rolled-up overalls, calico shirt torn and without buttons—a string of fish in his hand—his fishing pole over his shoulder.

The boy could not have told why, but he was thinking of Harriet when he reached the little retreat at the foot of the hill. Then, suddenly, he saw her gathering the violets that grew in the tall grass.

Then, as he watched her, so unaware that any one was invading her privacy in that little retreat, a feeling he had never known before came over him—an awakening. For what seemed to him a long time he stood there, wondering at this new and strange emotion.

He had forgotten his purpose to rush upon her with a yell, but advanced slowly and with an elaborate effort to appear casual said, "Hello."

She smiled, her cheeks flushed, and her eyes told him she was glad he had come.

And there they stood; the girl pretending an absorbing interest in the violets she held; the boy, for the first time in his life, painfully aware of dirt-stained hands and legs and face, and unable to speak a word. At last she broke the embarrassing silence. "Been fishin'?"

During their last year in public school they were chosen for the leading parts in an amateur play and made their first appearance together on the stage. They met often in that little retreat between their homes to rehearse, and named the place their theatre. No other member of the company was ever invited to meet them there.

Harriet's acting in the play, was the talk of the village. But many of the villagers shook their heads in grave concern. To their simple country minds it might be all right for a boy or girl to appear in a school play or a church cantata, but in the eyes of Orchard Hill an actress was a different matter. A bartender, while an actress was an unprincipled hussy.

Old Tony says, "I remember how shocked I was when Harriet first confided to me her ambition to become an actress. At that age I had never questioned Orchard Hill's judgment of moral issues. My parishioners, such pillars in the church, destined me for the ministry. That Harriet should deliberately propose to walk so far from the established paths of righteousness was a severe blow upon those Orchard Hill standards."

The two young people entered Orchard Hill Academy in the same class and during the four years of their Academy life were leaders in all the activities of the Dramatic Club of the school. And while Harriet dreamed of a career on the stage and read plays innumerable, she grew into womanhood with a personality distinctive and beautiful.

Considering her unusual freedom of speech and manner together with her gift for acting, and with Orchard Hill's settled conviction that professional actors were a bad lot, it is no wonder that there were predictions that she would come to no good end. For her father's sake she was not exactly ostracized, but for any boy or girl to be too intimate with her was to be placed under surveillance by the watchful guardians of the community's morals.

Young Antonio's parents, naturally, were not blind to their only son's interest in this girl whose name was so frequently on the tongues of the neighborhood gossips. In their eyes, even though by any chance Harriet Noel escaped the moral ruin of a stage career, she could scarcely be looked upon as the ideal wife for a clergyman. I suspect, too, Tony had doubts about a stage career for Harriet. But about his love for Harriet there was no doubt. Nor was there any doubt in his mind as to what her answer would be when the time came for him to ask her to be his wife.

(Copyright, 1930, by D. Appleton and Co.)

Sez Hugh:

WE'RE NEVER SATISFIED, CAUSE THE WORLD IS SO FULL OF NUMBER OF THINGS WE CAN'T HAVE!

A kiss! Then hesitant Tony grows bolder tomorrow. Is stage love real enough to open a door?

FIVE MORE BILLS ARE SIGNED BY GOVERNOR
Madison—(P)—Governor La Follette signed five bills yesterday, all of them originating in the assembly. They are:
By Moulton Goff, Sturgeon Bay—permitting a high school district or a consolidated free high school district to be established in any township comprising only island territory.
By Committee—permitting courts to fix less than the maximum sentence prescribed by law but compelling them to assess the minimum as provided for the offense.
By Committee—permitting the American Legion to hold free boxing exhibitions without coming under the state athletic commission.

By Daniel Burnham, Waupaca—fixing October 25 to April 1 as the open season for muskrats in Waupaca county except in the village of Marion where no open season shall prevail. Also abolishing all closed seasons on skunk in Brown county.
By Charles Westfahl, Milwaukee—providing that when an application is made for a tax deed in Milwaukee county, the county clerk shall require the applicant to show proof that the property is unencumbered.

LEGAL NOTICES

In the matter of the Liquidation of the Bank of Hortonville, a delinquent corporation organized under the laws of the State of Hortonville, Outagamie County, Wisconsin.

Take notice, that I, C. F. Schwenn, the commissioner of banking for the State of Wisconsin, do hereby approve and under the direction of Honorable Edgar V. Werner, circuit judge of the County of Outagamie, Liquidating dividend of 10% to the creditors of the Bank of Hortonville, in accordance with the provisions of the following order of the court according to the proofs of claims or receipts of the same:

That the same will be paid on the 1st day of January, 1921, by check; that no objections be filed to such claims, and that as soon as I may see the list of claimants and receipts, I will issue such order, and that such list is filed with me.

That no objection to such order be filed in the circuit court at Appleton, Wisconsin, on or after the 1st day of January, 1921, and that all persons interested may file objections thereto by filing the same with me on or before the 1st day of January, 1921, in writing with the commissioner of banking.

MEAT PACKERS AROUSSED; OPEN PUBLIC DRIVE

Hold Meeting in Chicago to Lay Plans for Strenuous Campaign

BY OWEN L. SCOTT
(Copyright 1931, by Cons. Press)
Chicago—(CPA)—Aroused at the turn which has occurred in the livestock market, carrying prices down to levels not witnessed before in nearly a quarter of a century, the livestock and meat packing industries, today are consolidating their facilities for a drive on the public.
A meeting here of agricultural leading railroad officials, retailers of meat, commission men and board of trade executives is intended to formulate plans for getting the situation in the meat business before the consumers. The livestock industry, with its annual output of over three billion dollars annually, is all-important as the most important stabilizing influence in agriculture. Its relatively high plane of prices during recent years has kept farming on a fairly even keel.
Now has occurred a collapse in prices of cattle and hogs, in the face of normal marketing and normal supplies on farms. The situation, according to the Institute of American Meat Packers, is due to the failure of the public to eat its normal portion of meat. Price reductions of retail meat, now sweeping, had lagged behind wholesale reduction and housewives, searching for bargains, skimped on meat.

Bargains in Meat
At present, the institute points out, retail prices have fallen into line, and bargain are to be found in meats. Beef cuts have fallen in price at retail from 38 to 41 per cent compared with this time a year ago;
fresh pork cuts have dropped from 28 to 35 per cent, cured pork from 12 to 38 per cent and lamb prices from 9 to 22 per cent. These reductions are based on figures compiled by the bureau of agricultural economics of the department of agriculture. They are described as more drastic than those occurring in other food lines.

The livestock industry is three times as important to the farmer as the wheat industry and yet you hear three times as much about wheat and you do about livestock," asserted
C. A. Ewing, president of the National Livestock Marketing association and a member of the livestock advisory committee to the federal farm board.

The public has not been appraised of the serious situation in these markets, which supply the real backbone of the farmer income.
Cattle recently have been hard to sell at any price, due almost entirely to the fact that the public is not eating its normal proportion of beef.
There is no over-production in the cattle and hog divisions of the industry, but packers find it difficult to move their supplies into consumptive channels.

Supply Threatened
As a result the stability of the country's meat supply is threatened.
"It is much more important to the farmer that he be able to obtain reasonable prices for the stock he has to market, than that grain prices be high, because most of his grain is marketed through livestock."

Today's meeting of those directly interested in the situation, is expected to result in some plan for letting the public know of the price situation in meats.

4-H CLUBS MAKE PLANS FOR ATTENDING CAMP

Between 50 and 100 members of Outagamie-co 4-H clubs are planning to attend camp at Fox Lakes Reservation, Oshkosh, boy scout council camp, eight miles southwest of Waupaca this summer, according to Gus Sell, county agent. The camp dates have been set for July 12 to 18. There will be two separate sessions, each attending camp for three-day periods.

Clubs of Waushara, Winnebago, Waupaca and Marquette-cos also will be in camp during the same periods, he says. Club leaders are making arrangements with their respective organizations, preparing plans for various camp projects.

132 FIXTURES ADDED TO SEWERAGE SYSTEM

Fixtures connected to the present sewerage system during May numbered 132, according to the monthly report of George E. Gauslin, plumbing inspector. Mr. Gauslin made 15 final, 60 roughing and 32 sewer inspections during the month, and granted 26 permits for the opening of trenches.

44-HOUR WEEK FOR MAIL CARRIERS TO BEGIN ON SATURDAY

Beginning Saturday, mail carriers of the Appleton postoffice will have Saturday afternoons off, it was announced today by postal officials.
There will be no deliveries on Saturday afternoon except the distribution of parcel post as it is received at the postoffice, it was stated.

The 44-hour week for mail carriers will become mandatory on July 1 throughout the United States, but many offices will put it into effect before that.

Chinese Celebration To Be Sad Affair This Year

Washington—(P)— Celebration of the Chinese New Year in the national capital on February 17 will be tinged with sadness.

Clinging for years like a mottled but colorful fringe to the very face of the capitol's marble stairs, Chinatown now faces dissolution. About s-venty per cent of its area will be razed to make room for the new municipal center which is part of the capitol's beautification plan.

Chinatown's strip of mystery, with its latticed windows and dim, incense-laden interiors contrasting strangely with the grandeur of the capitol near by, has achieved national distinction.

Senators and representatives, intent on a brisk constitutional, have long swung by the temples and joss houses on their way down Pennsylvania avenue. Inaugural parades and funerals of noted men have had Chinatown for a setting.

But even in this American environment, Chinatown has kept its own entity, aloof and impenetrable behind mysterious doors.

The New Year's celebration will start about a week before February 17, and the Chinese will gather in these joss houses for the last time to pay homage to Confucius.

Where they will go once the hammers ring down on that of the temple bells is a secret. Those who profess to know the oriental mind say they will seek another location close to the capitol.

HIGHWAY COMMITTEE TO OPEN ROAD BIDS

Bids for a quarter mile of paving on County Trunk N. out of Little Chute will be opened at a meeting of the Outagamie-co highway committee in the highway offices at the courthouse at 2 o'clock next Monday afternoon, according to Frank Appleton, commissioner. Reports of committee members also will be reviewed.

STARTS FIRE; PAROLED
Rhinelander—(P)— Found guilty of setting a fire without a permit, Oscar Johnson, Vilas-co farmer, today was under parole for two months from a jail sentence. Conservation wardens said the fire spread over 2,000 acres, destroying wild game and threatening cottages and resort buildings.

Controlled Roasting

gives Hills Bros Coffee a flavor no other coffee has because that process roasts the blend evenly...continuously

a little at a time

A flavor no other coffee has! That's what you will find in every can of Hills Bros. Coffee because Controlled Roasting—the process that develops that smooth, savory flavor—belongs to Hills Bros. exclusively.

The common method of roasting in bulk does not roast coffee evenly. Invariably some of the batch is overdone—some underdone. But since Hills Bros.' famous blend is roasted evenly, continuously, a few pounds at a time—every berry is roasted to uniform perfection.

You can never buy stale Hills Bros. Coffee. It is always fresh because air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is completely removed and kept out of the vacuum can in which the coffee is packed. Ordinary cans, even if airtight, do not keep coffee fresh.

Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can.
